Princess In Veil Mother Wore, Weds

McFARLAND FADES FROM PICTURE AS GOVERNMENT ACTS

Newly Authorized Board to Market As Much of Holdover As Possible Before New Crop Available

By THOS. WAYLING
Exclusive to The Bulletin

OTTAWA, June 10.—The Canada Grain Board, to be created by a bill to be brought down in Commons today, will function only on proclamation. A committee will be set up in the meantime which will take over the functions of John I. McFarland as the government's agent, and market as much of the present crop as possible before the new crop year.

The present carryover verges on 180,000,000 to 200,000,000 bushels and government's advisers estimate committee could dispose of 50,000,000 bushels of it by August 1, end of the 1934-35 crop year. Intention is to proclaim a new board after August 1, leaving to it remaining carryover and new crop.

Mr. McFarland will disappear from picture immediately, "on account of ill-health," as soon as new committee is appointed.

Between passage of the act and proclamation the validity of the legislation will be taken up. The Winnipeg grain exchange will challenge its constitutionality immediately it becomes law.

It means virtual elimination of operations of Winnipeg grain exchange.

It means taking over of all private elevators in the west; the board being the sole buyer and seller of grain.

It means elimination of the speculator and the placing of grain on a stable marketing basis.

EXCEEDS WAR BOARD

The government plans to equal the Canada wheat board of 1918-19 and to exceed it. The war board handled wheat only. The new board is to handle all grains.

There will be no real opposition in the house to the principle of the bill. The Progressives, allied to wheat pools, are strongly for establishment of the grain board. The Liberal opposition will endorse the principle but will demand some information as to the government's plans for dealing with this year's carryover as well as the huge crop expected this year.

150,000,000 CARRYOVER

It is estimated that carryover runs over 150,000,000 bushels. The grain exchange people have suggested that the government store this and leave an open market for this year's crop. Another suggestion is that the carryover be dumped on the market for what it will bring, and the treasury cover loss if any, clearing the market for this year's production.

The wheat board of 1918-19 was

One Suspect Makes Escape After Deserting Car and $15,000

WASHINGTON, June 10. — J. Edgar Hoover, director of the Bureau of Investigation, announced last night arrest of two persons involved in the Weyerhaeuser kidnapping, from whom he said there had been a "full confession." The names of the suspects as given by Hoover were Mr. and Mrs. Herman M. Waley of Salt Lake City, Utah. Hoover said the two made a full confession, involving William Mahan, for whom a nation-wide search was started last night.

Hoover said Mahan was owner of the automobile abandoned at Butte, Montana, Sunday, containing $15,000 of the kidnap ransom money.

TAKEN AT SALT LAKE

Hoover said the Waleys were arrested Saturday in Salt Lake City. The woman, Mrs. Margaret Waley, was arrested by federal agents who said she was passing some of the $200,000 ransom money.

Her husband was apprehended by the justice department later in the day.

IMPLICATE MAHAN

Their confession then sent government agents on the trail of Mahan, 32, a blacksmith and mechanic, alleged to have abandoned

MUSSOLINI IN EDICT CENSORS CRITICAL PRESS

Dictator Tells Newspapers Tone Down Drastic British Comment

ROME, June 10. — Premier Mussolini ordered Italian newspapers today to moderate criticism of Great Britain in connection with the Italo-Ethiopian dispute.

The Premier, acting through his son-in-law, Count Galeazzo Ciano, under-secretary of state for press and propaganda, enjoined publications to keep the tone of their comment within certain limitations.

Il Duce is said to have been startled by the extreme degree of antagonism reflected in newspaper articles and editorials of the last few days.

Press officials denied Great Britain had presented any diplomatic protest as a result of the unfriendly newspaper campaign.

It is known, however, the British embassy has been in frequent contact with the government. The British also are known to have contested the accurary of the statements on which the comment was based.

The S. S. Cesare Battisti sailed last night from Naples with 600 additional troops assigned to East Afrigan service.

Mrs. Moody Off To Good Start

LONDON, June 10.—Mrs. Helen Wills Hoody, fresh from her triumph in the St. George's Hill tournament last week, got off to a good start in Kent championships today by defeating Miss S. G. Cutter, former Kent junior champion, 6-0, 6-0 in a first round match.

FINLAND WILL PAY WAR DEBT

HELSINGFORS, Finland, June 10.—Finland will pay her war debt instalment due the United States June 15 in money already earmarked in the National City Bank of New York.

Finland is the only one of the war debtor nations which still pays the debt instalments, amounting to only $250,000 semi-annually in her case.

REGINA RELIEF AIDE DROWNS

KATEPWE, Sask., June 10.—Plunged into deep water when his boat capsized, William Redhead, 46, Regina city relief officer, drowned here Sunday.

Accompanied by an 11-year-old lad, Redhead was fishing in the lake about 100 yards from shore. In leaning over the side of the boat to adjust his line the craft capsized, both of the occupants being thrown into the water.

Col. E. J. Clearly, Regina man, swam out and brought the lad ashore safely. Redhead sank and did not come to the surface again. His body was recovered after an hour's dragging.

Redhead, born in Bury, Lancashire, had lived in Regina since 1911.

$200 FAILS TO HALT MARCHERS

CALGARY, June 10.—Refusing to accept an offer of $200 to stay away from Medicine Hat, more than 1,000 British Columbia and Alberta relief camp strikers prepared to leave Calgary today.

All was quiet at the Exhibition grounds where the strikers are quartered in the grandstand building, and it was understood there would be no parades or demonstration in downtown Calgary today.

GIRL 5, HIT BY AUTO, KILLED

REGINA, June 10—Helen Ursan, five year old daughter of Roman Ursan, this city, was struck on number one highway just south of the city Sunday afternoon by a car driven by Margaret Hewson, Moose Jaw, and died in a Regina hospital later. The Ursan family were with friends on an afternoon outing. Inquest Friday evening in R.C.M.P. court. The little girl's skull was fractured.

NEWLY WEDS KILLED BY CAR

ZANESVILLE, O., June 10.—A newly-wedded couple and the bridegroom's sister died today when their automobile turned over six times after sideslipping a truck they attempted to pass on a curve.

Those killed were Walter Tomich, 24; Anna Tomich, 20, to whom he was married Sunday, and Miss Pauline Tomich, 16.

Hearing Denied

ST. PAUL, June 10.—The United States circuit court of appeals today denied the United States government's petition for a rehearing on the appeal of former Governor William Langer of North Dakota on his conviction of conspiracy to solicit political funds from relief workers.

Perry Adds Title

BRUSSELS, June 10.—Fred Perry, the British tennis champion, added another title to his list today when he defeated H. W. Artens of Australia, 6-3, 9-7, 6-3 in the finals of the Belgian championship.

Sister Mesmin Dies

BORDEAUX, June 10.—Sister Marie Mesmin, founder of the Order of the Mesminique Sisters, died here today.

Sordid Story Closes With Her Suicide

MRS. ALMA RATTENBURY

Canadian-born widow of Francis Rattenbury, 68-year-old architect, for whose murder George Stoner, an eighteen year old chauffeur, was sentenced to die after a sensational trial, committed suicide by stabbing herself and jumping into the river Stour, near Christchurch, England, five days after the trial.

INSULL TRIAL TO END TRIALS STARTS SOON

CHICAGO, June 10—Samuel Insull today awaited with confidence of victory the start of what was believed to be a "trial to end all Insull trials."

The former utility magnate tomorrow will go into Federal court to answer to the last charge remaining against him as a result of the collapse of his industrial empire in 1932. Twice before he has won acquittal.

Insull, 75, is charged in this final case with violating the Federal bankruptcy laws by transferring some $2,500,000 in assets of Corporation Securities Company, after he allegedly knew it was bankrupt.

Fugitive Wins French Election Deputy By Proxy

LE PUY, France, June 10—France's "incredible Philibert", the former deputy Philibert Hippolyte Marcelin Besson, now sought by police, has won another election contest — by proxy.

William Archer, engineer friend of the picturesque politician, was chosen a deputy on the platform "A vote for me is a vote for Besson." Archer takes the seat of the fugitive Besson, who was ousted from Parliament when charged in 1932 with stealing a receipt for 5,644 francs after paying a lawyer only 2,300 francs.

London Acepts Hitler Navy Plan

LONDON, June 10.—London has accepted "in principle" Germany's claim for a navy 35 per cent of the British fleet, the Morning Post, Conservative, stated today, in comment on the naval discussions last week between Joachim von Ribbentrop, Adolf Hitler's ambassador-at-large, and experts of the admiralty here.

The discussions are to be resumed Friday.

DOUGLAS ASKS COALITION FOR SOCIAL CREDIT

Practical Abandonment of U.F.A. As a Party Would Follow Adoption of British Economist's Views

Formation of a coalition government is suggested as a means to gain control of local credit—which is necessary in order to bring about emancipation from the economic ills in which the province is now immersed, according to a letter from Major C. H. Douglas, chief reconstruction adviser to the provincial government, to Premier R. G. Reid and released on Monday. If the government adopts this suggestion, it would mean that the United Farmers of Alberta party, controlling the government of the day, would lose its identity and would cease to dominate the legislature.

Premier Reid, when asked if the government intended to take any action toward implementing this suggestion, declined to comment, as he has on all phases of the Douglas reports.

FURTHER STUDY

Pressed to say if the government proposed to implement any of the Douglas interim report or subsequent suggestions, the premier said that further study would be given the whole matter by the cabinet and it might be necessary to obtain further legal counsel on the opinion expressed by W. S. Gray, K.C., solicitor to the attorney general's department, who stated that the province had no right to issue to demand or money within or without its borders.

The premier released two letters from Major Douglas to himself and one letter which he wrote to Major Douglas.

FIRST LETTER

The first letter, written by Major Douglas and dated May 23 from the Macdonald hotel, is as follows:

Dear Mr. Reid,

With this letter I am sending you the original and duplicate of my First Interim Report to your Government on the possibilities of the application of Social Credit principles to the Province of Alberta.

You will notice that in this report I have taken the line that action initiating in Alberta, though quite possibly not ultimately confined to Alberta, is both possible and desirable, and that such action must have as its first objective access to the financial credit which is properly based upon the resources and the people of Alberta itself.

To put this matter beyond possibility of misapprehension, I might state that in my opinion no mere redistribution of the purchasing power already available in Alberta can be effective in attaining, at any rate with sufficient rapidity, the results demanded both by the general situation and by public opinion and that there is no likelihood of credit being obtained from ordinary sources upon terms as would be suitable, to the extent which is required.

I feel sure that you will agree that before I can proceed very much further I must have some decision as to the general policy

MAYOR THINKS ABERHART, U.F. IN "CAHOOTS"

Clarke Says Social Credit Leader Favors Coalition Govt.

William Aberhart, Social Credit leader, "is working in cahoots with the U.F.A. government" and they cannot deny that his party would be prepared to form a coalition administration with the U.F.A. party if both succeeded in securing a majority between them in the provincial house next elections. That is the opinion of Mayor J. A. Clarke.

"Aberhart is being used to salvage support lost by the U.F.A. during the dying days of its government. Social Credit stalwarts cannot deny their party would be ready to form a coalition government if the Social Credit and U.F.A. parties secured a majority at the next elections," the mayor stated Monday.

Referring to economic reform schemes outlined by Maj. Douglas and Mr. Aberhart, Mayor Clarke said: "We know who is paying Maj. Douglas, but we don't know who is paying Mr. Aberhart."

CIRCLE TOURING FLIERS IN JAM

PORTLAND, Ore., June 10—Two Salt Lake City fliers, enroute on a circle tour of North America, rest here today following a slight accident in the landing Saturday at Pendelton, Ore. They are Alfred Reck of Salt Lake Desert News, and Mahlon S. Kemmerer, also of Salt Lake.

Reck said a wheel crumbled when brakes were applied in landing. The plane was brought to Portland via truck for repairs. Neither man was injured. The fliers expected to be delayed two days before continuing the flight which will take them across Canada.

FRANCE LOSES IN DAVIS CUP

PARIS, June 10—Australia clinched a victory over France in the European zone Davis Cup eliminations today when Jack Crawford, the No. 1 Australian player, defeated Christian Boussus of France, 2-6, 6-4, 6-4, 3-6, 9-7.

TWO KILLED IN SAUNDERS MINE

NORDEGG, Alta., June 10—Two coal miners, John Pekara and Mike Krynoptic, were killed in the mine on the Big Horn Saunders Creek collieres at Saunders about two o'clock Saturday afternoon.

The men were partners and were killed instantaneously by a heavy fall of rock from the roof just a few hours after a small shift had entered the mine to resume operations after over two months idleness.

As W. M. Davidson Sees Aberhart's Social Credit

Pioneer Western Editor, Former Member of the Alberta Legislature, Analyzes Important Issue for Bulletin Readers—Says Campaign for Social Credit of Greatest Importance to Alberta

By W. M. DAVIDSON

If any person reading these articles believes that William Aberhart has organized a political party, with a sensational slogan which has carried many good Albertans off their feet, merely to get himself into the centre of the stage, or even to sweep into office, he should abandon the idea for there is nothing further from the truth. If any one has an idea that after reaching office, he would quickly shed the more extravagant and impractical parts of his program, that person is also very wrong.

If any party leader has any hope that the Social Credit party, with a band of elected members—not a majority, say but a group—would make a worth while ally in the general mix up, that may follow an election, he would be well advised to abandon the dream.

Mr. Aberhart is resolute, determined and inflexible and will fight unswervingly and without compromise for that program, such as it is, caring not a brass farthing for parties, groups, associations or alliances. If he should be placed in office he will move towards the goal without regard for cost or consequence to province or people. If he should hold the balance of

Three-Year Jungle War Now Ended

American Mediator Bring Peace in Grim Chaco Wilderness

BUENOS AIRES, June 10.—Peace representatives of Paraguay and Bolivia, brought together by neutral American mediators, agreed Sunday on an accord to settle the grim three-year war in the Gran Chaco wilderness.

The formula was submitted to the governments at Asuncion and La Paz, Paraguay announcing immediately its official acceptance, Bolivian authorities studied the text of the agreement, with prompt concurrence expected.

While joyful demonstrations prevailed in the capitals of the belligerents, observers believed the warfare would be halted before June 15, third anniversary of the start of the strife that has cost an estimated 100,000 lives.

The accord provides for direct negotiations between the belligerents, during an armistice, to settle the land dispute, with demobilization and demilitarization in the jungle.

ANN HARDING FEARS KIDNAP OF DAUGHTER

SAN FRANCISCO, June 10. — Ann Harding, motion picture actress, announced here today efforts had recently been made to kidnap her six-year-old daughter, Jane.

The disclosure was made in an application to the state supreme court for a writ of prohibition to restrain a Los Angeles superior court from proceeding with a custody action filed recently by her divorced husband, Harry Bannister.

CHINESE MAKE SURRENDER TO JAPAN DEMAND

Evacuation of Territory Started in Compliance With Tokyo Order

By GLENN BABB
Copyright, 1935, by Associated Press

TOKYO, June 10 — Chinese troops were reported in Japanese news dispatches today to have started evacuation of North China, signalizing what the messages described as China's complete surrender to the demands of Japanese military authorities.

These reports said the threat of an occupation by General Jiro Minami's war machine was sufficient to persuade the Chinese Nationalist government to capitulate to the Japanese requirements for establishment of a new regime in North China.

As a consequence, the Japanese press said, the Japanese troops concentrated in Hopei province, although ready for action, will not be called on to move southward, at least for the present.

Dispatches from Tientsin to the Rengo (Japanese news Agency) said evacuation of Chinese troops from Hopei already was under way in pursuance of the Japanese military demands.

The army commanded by General Yu Tsueh-Chung, former governor of the province whose dismissal the Japanese ordered, was said to have started its long march to far-away Kansu province.

SHIPS LAY IDLE AS COAST STRIKE GROWS

PICKETS FORCE 13 FREIGHTERS TO KEEP CARGO

Blaming Communists Mayor McGeer Provides for Provincial, Federal Police to Keep Order.

VANCOUVER, June 10—Authorities moved Sunday to maintain law and order on the Vancouver waterfront after pickets had prevented unloading of the Canadian National steamship Prince George. Thirteen deepsea ships lay idle owing to the strike of 900 longshoremen.

No illegal picketing and no picketing of homes of men working on the waterfront will be tolerated, Mayor G. G. McGeer announced after a conference with city and provincial police and Royal Canadian mounted police. He said arrangement had been made whereby provincial and national forces will police the waterfront, leaving city forces free for their regular duties.

BLAME COMMUNISTS

The mayor charged the waterfront trouble is due to communist activity.

"The men who are working are representative of labor and many of the longshoremen are not in sympathy with the men who started the strike," he declared. "Order will be maintained and the business of the city and port will not be interrupted."

TWO SHIPS WORKED

Only two ships were worked in the harbor Saturday. Crews from the newly-formed Canadian waterfront workers' association were taken to Ballantyne pier in launches escorted by the police boat and there they discharged 2,200 stems of bananas from the freighter Pacific Pioneer. This action was taken after the men had experienced difficulty in getting through picket ranks.

GRAIN BOARD TO BE GIVEN WIDE POWERS

discontinued after one year. The Liberal government in 1922 at behest of western members, expressed its willingness to revise the wheat board. It found constitutional difficulties in the way, the property and civil rights clauses of B.N.A. act and other difficulties.

PROVINCES INACTIVE

A bill was brought down conferring on the provinces all powers of the Dominion in relation to a wheat board, to be used by any province which would set up such a board. None of the provinces availed themselves of the power thus conferred.

A similar bill was introduced in 1923, and also passed, but provinces took no further action.

GOOD GOVERNMENT POWERS

The constitutional barriers which prevented the Liberal government in 1922 and 1923 from setting up a wheat board, may be overcome in the present instance by extraordinary powers of the present administration under "peace, order and good government" as being a national problem.

Under the new plan primary elevators in the Dominion will become agencies for the grain board. Terminal elevators and the grain-handling companies will not be affected seriously, as they will be given a handling margin.

The Winnipeg grain exchange will be chief sufferer, as there will be no trading save through the board.

MAHAN A PRINCIPAL

Mahan was termed by Hoover "One of the principals involved in the case."

Charged by the department with having used at least four alias, "William Merell," "William Dainard," "William Morrell," and "Wm. Dinard," Hoover aid Mahan was paroled in 1924 from a two to four year sentence for grand larceny.

HAS LONG RECORD

The record at the department said he was sentenced in 1927 to 20 years for robbery but secured his release. He is listed as wanted in Idaho and the State of Washington for assault and bank robbery.

Waley, said the department, was sent to reform school at Chehalis, Washington, in 1929, for burglary; a year later was sentenced to serve from one to 15 years on a similar count; in 1931 received a suspended sentence of between two and 15 years for second degree burglary and three months later was ordered to serve a similar term for grand larceny.

MUST CLEAR AIR BY EARLY ALBERTA VOTE

Business Under Handicap Until Political Situation Decided

If Alberta business is to get under way this summer the air must be cleared by the holding of an early election, according to the local manager of a machinery company who presents a circular from his head offices in which the situation in Alberta is frankly discussed.

Dated June 1, and headed "Read Every Word of This Important Circular," the letter, addressed to all Alberta district representatives is as follows:

ALL-CASH BASIS

"You were advised by circular dated May 18 that on and after June 1 all sales in the province of Alberta must be on an all-cash basis and that we cannot and will not put through any time settlements after that date. You will, of course, be allowed a reasonable time (three or four days) for sales made up to May 31st to reach this office. After the expiration of these three or four days of grace no time sales may be put through under any consideration, regardless of when sale or delivery was made, as sufficient notice was given to have all outstanding settlements cleaned up.

"It is regrettable that it was necessary to go on an all-cash basis in that province and you may be sure that the decision to do so was only made after careful consideration. Several factors forced us to take this dractic action. The unsettled political situation in Alberta and recent unfavorable debt legislation has had a great deal to do wth our action in this respect.

DECIDED BEARING

"Our low percentage of cash on sales made in the province to date this year, of course, had a decided bearing on the matter and the alarming increase in the amount of our New Plan Past Due paper in Alberta has caused very grave concern and was a major reason for going on a cash basis.

"We cannot say at this time when we may see fit to go back to our previous plan of time sales in that province, but hope it may be in the not too distant future. Our action in this respect will, of course, depend in no small measure on the outcome of the forthcoming provincial election and at this time we are unable to see how the success of a Social Credit party at the polls can do anything but work a hardship on any company doing business in that province with a consequent, and, perhaps, greater hardship on the local representatives."

U.S. Warcraft In China For Practice

WASHINGTON, June 10.—Navy department officials Sunday said the movement of United States destroyers and submarines to Northern Chinese waters now underway had no relation to Japanese action in the Peiping area.

An operations officer said a destroyer squadron of 13 vessels headed toward Tientsin, and a flotilla of submarines with a tender enroute to Chefoo, previously had been ordered to that area for summer gunnery practice.

ADDIS ABABA, June 10—The Ethiopian government denied today a report published in an Italian newspaper some 2,000 wild Dancali tribesmen had attempted to wreck Selassie was travelling near Afden the train in which Emperor Haile

BRAIN WASH STRAIGHTENS WARPED LIMBS

Medical Science Advances Another Miracle Step For Humans

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J., June 10.—A brain wash which straightens out some of the most cruel and twisting human deformities was demonstrated Sunday at the scientific exposition of the joint meeting of the American Medical Association and the Canadian Medical Association.

There also was a new antiseptic, developed at the Ford hospital, far more powerful than anything now in medical use for human tissues.

The brain wash has been used on, and cured cases of infantile paralysis, St. Vitus dance, sleeping sickness, syphilitic meningitis and tuberculosis meningitis. It has relieved, but not cured, locomotor ataxia.

ALL BRAIN ILLS

All these are brain troubles, in which some part of the brain, or central nervous system, becomes inflamed due to infection.

The wash is plain salt and water. It is the method of use rather than the "medicine" which gets the results. The demonstration was made by George M. Retan, M.D., associate professor of pediatrics, Syracuse University College of Medicine.

SALINE SOLUTION

The salt solution is injected into a vein. At the same time a hollow needle is inserted into the spinal cord to draw off fluid. The salt water dilutes the blood, which washes the inflamed areas, in these cases the brain. The washing carries off waste which passes from the brain down the spinal cord to be drawn off through the needle.

MEDICAL MIRACLE

The new antiseptic reported from the Ford hospital is described as a medical miracle — an unexpected potency arising from putting two weak antiseptics together.

One is tannic acid, its rating as an antiseptic one. The other is hexylresorcinol, its antiseptic rating 46. But together they rate 240 to 250 (which means that many times stronger than carbolic acid). The highest power antiseptic now in general use rates 200. There are still more powerful antiseptics, but they cannot be used on human tissues because they are too poisonous. This one is harmless.

ABERHART SAYS CALL ELECTION NOW--OR ELSE!

CALGARY, June 10.—Delay on the part of the Alberta government in announcing an election date may bring a protest from the Social Credit party to the lieutenant-governor, or even the governor-general, William Aberhart, leader of the Social Credit forces, indicated in an address Sunday.

Mr. Aberhart warned his followers to be patient, telling them to "keep their seats," and reminded them that under the election act the U. F. A. government had until July 11 to announce its election date.

No reply will be made by Mr. Aberhart to the criticism contained in a letter Major C. H. Douglas, British economist, sent to Hon. J. F. Lymburn, attorney-general, until Tuesday night at the earliest. Mr. Aberhart had not time to study the letter during the week-end, and he may get in touch with Major Douglas, now on the Atlantic, before he replies.

FIVE MEN DIE IN PLANE CRASH

WATERTOWN, N.Y., June 10.—Five men were killed here last night when a cabin airplane crashed into Lake Ontario from 1,000 feet altitude at Henderson Harbor, approximately 10 miles northeast of Watertown.

The dead were Archie V. Laverty, about 40, pilot of Watertown; Francis E. O'Reilly, 32, of Watertown; Gerald Conway; Evans Mills, and a man believed to be Francis O'Neil, about 35, also of Watertown.

The plane was seen to go into a spin over the water by Harry W. Green, Watertown architect, who has a summer home on the lake shore. He said he heard the engine sputter and then saw the machine dive to the water.

The machine seemed to crack up when it reached the water, Green said. Laverty was a mechanic in the United States Air Corps during the Great War.

Children Of Jobless Collect On Tags

GALT, Ont., June 10.—Although Police Commission had refused them permission, unemployed Saturday held a tag day to raise funds for the "hunger march" to Toronto June 17. Most of the taggers were children of the unemployed. Police did not interfere:

Platform Falls At Unveiling

GALWAY, Irish Free State, June 10.—President Eamon de Valera of the Irish Free State escaped injury Sunday, when a platform collapsed while he was unveiling a statue to Padraic Ononaire, Irish scholar.

Thirty persons fell to the ground and some of them were injured slightly.

Visiting Prairie Provinces

E. J. GREENWAY

On a business trip throughout the prairie provinces, E. J. Greenway, Winnipeg, vice president and manager of the Manitoba and Saskatchewan divisions for Fry, Cadbury, Limited, arrived in Edmonton Sunday night, and will remain in the city for a few days.

BRAND SOCIAL CREDIT AS BIG TAX PROPOSAL

George H. Van Allen, K.C., Says Aberhart Strength Ebbing

That realization by the people of Alberta that the Aberhart Social Credit scheme is not social credit at all but instead the most gigantic sales tax proposal ever advocated by any political leader, which, if put into effect would take more from the pockets of the people in the shape of high prices than ever it would put into them in the form of dividends is resulting in a great change in the situation in Southern Alberta according to George H. Van Allan K.C.

DEFINITE IMPRESSIONS

"There is no doubt about it," said Mr. Van Allan. "While in Southern Alberta for a few days last week I gathered very definite impressions regarding the political situation and the signs are very encouraging for the Liberal cause.

"In the first place the prevailing opinion everywhere is that the U.F.A. government is defeated and that it does not hold a single safe seat in the Province. Recent efforts in the South to unite with other parties behind Independent candidates, illustrates the desperation of the U.F.A. party.

"The Liberal party is in stronger position in the south than at any time for 16 years. Our candidates are by far the finest types in the field today. They are confident of success and they are not now worried about an Aberhart menace. In Calgary alone the Liberals confidently expect to carry three seats.

STRENGTH EBBING

"The strength behind the Aberhart scheme is rapidly ebbing away. The movement is going flat. The people have discovered for themselves that the Aberhart scheme is not Social Credit at all, but instead the most gigantic sales tax proposal ever advocated by anyone. It is realized that such a tax would take more from the pockets of the poor in the shape of high prices than it would ever put into them in the form of dividends.

"I found people everywhere realizing more and more that there is just one party that is capable and anxious to bring about real monetary reconstruction and trade expansion in this country and that is the Liberal party. Accordingly people are turning to Liberal leadership.

"No matter when the elections are held, the south of the province appears to be going very strongly Liberal."

Premier Declines To Comment About Douglas Opinion

Back from a several days' speaking tour of Southern Alberta during which time he addressed three constituency conventions, Premier R. G. Reid declined to comment on the Douglas opinion on Aberhart proposals released on Saturday by Hon J. F. Lymburn, K.C., attorney general.

Premier Reid declined to comment on the Douglas interim report which he released last week and has since declined to comment on either the report or the opinion.

He visited Warner, Cardston and Camrose during his visit and on Saturday at Camrose addressed an overflow meeting.

Hopes Wane For Greek King Return

ATHENS, June 10. — Monarchist hopes for restoration of former King George to the Grecian throne waned today as a consequence of the sweeping victory registered by the government of Premier Panayoti Tsaldaris in yesterday's parliamentary elections.

The Royalist forces headed by General John Metaxas, won only seven seats in the national assembly. The government captured 287.

Girl Swallows Toothbrush; She Goes To Hospital

WINNIPEG, June 10—A toothbrush removed from her stomach, 15-year-old Olga Schenkers is in hospital today recovering without any ill effects.

Olga swallowed the toothbrush a week ago when she was cleaning her teeth, but she didn't mention it to anyone. Friday last, when she showed signs of being ill, a doctor was called and, after much questioning, Olga told him how she swallowed the toothbrush.

An operation was performed immediately and the toothbrush removed.

Railway Board Wil Sit Here From July 6-8

Sheriff John Rae, of Edmonton judicial district, Monday received a telegram from Ottawa, asking for accommodation for the board of railway commissioners on July 6 and 8.

The sheriff replied that accommodation would be provided in the appeal court room on the dates requested.

No intimation was contained in the wire from Ottawa as to the nature of the business that will come before the board here.

ABERHART IS 'DICTATOR' TO YOUNG TORIES

Publicly Avowed Enemy of Free Press and Speech

CALGARY, June 10.—The policy of William Aberhart, head of the Social Credit Party and his "Dictatorial Attitude" as leader of the new political party, was condemned in resolutions adopted by delegates to the Young Conservative convention here Saturday.

Freedom of speech and the press, as traditions of the British Empire, was upheld in the resolution, which declared:

"On the basis of his own public utterances, this convention recognizes William Aberhart as a publicly avowed enemy of freedom of the press and speech."

Resolutions approving of the work of Prime Minister R. B. Bennett and D. M. Duggan, Alberta leader, and endorsation of the Conservative provincial platform were adopted.

Decision was taken to organize a Southern Alberta Young People's Conservative Association. Harold Schuldt, of Calgary, was appointed president.

NEW CAR!

FIRST Truly De Luxe Car of Low Price!

THERE'S ONLY ONE WORD FOR IT—REVOLUTIONARY!

REMEMBER that statement as time goes by . . . and other cars begin to be patterned after this new Nash "400." For here is a car so advanced, so different, so much better, it cannot help influencing the future design of other cars. Read what this sensational car offers you . . . then enjoy the sensation of driving it.

MONITOR-SEALED MOTOR—First major motor improvement in years. All manifolds sealed inside the motor block. Design so simplified, so clean cut, that several hundred previously necessary parts are totally eliminated. Results: Uniform efficiency regardless of outside temperature. Gasoline saving! Oil saving! Simplified service! Longer life!

RAPID SERVICE HOOD—"400" Rapid Service Hood design eliminates hood lifting. The radiator ornament is hinged. Oil and water filler caps are directly underneath. Oil supply gauge is on the dash.

STEEL TOP, ALL-STEEL BODY—First car to combine the safety of an All-Steel, One-Piece body with a Steel Floor and a Seamless Steel Top. The steel cross-membered steel floor reinforces the frame and the frame in turn reinforces the body.

ROOMIEST CAR AT THE PRICE—Front seat 54 inches wide, rear seat 53 inches. The most headroom. A big car of 117-inch wheelbase—191⅛ inches overall length.

BALANCED WEIGHT—Nash is one of the few manufacturers who design the car weight 50-50 front and rear! Perfect weight division is engineered into the "400."

MIDSECTION SEATING—Rear seat passengers ride ahead of rear axle, closer to center of the car. Sedans have real six-passenger capacity.

THEY WON'T "FUSE"

Attempts to make a working alliance between the U.F.A. and the Conservative parties in certain constituencies, as the one sure and certain way to smash Social Credit, do not seem to be meeting with much success.

The outstanding fusion meeting was held at Vulcan some days ago, around the festive board, when some fifty guests were present, a sprinkling of Liberals included perhaps for appearance sake, and appropriate speeches were made in the brotherly-love tone. But the next day the U.F.A. convention nominated Mr. O. L. McPherson as candidate for the riding.

That probably queered the fusion idea so far as Little Bow is concerned, as it will certainly queer it elsewhere. One just can't imagine Conservative voters flocking to the polls to vote for Mr. McPherson; nor Conservative voters elsewhere turning out to support candidates of the regime he represents.

The party strategists may frame up a fusion scheme if they like; if they do, Conservative voters in the "arranged" constituencies will vote for Liberal candidates. The advice is tendered free to Mr. Duggan and Mr. Brownlee.

A CURTAIN-RAISER?

Ten days ago Japanese guns roared in the Chinese city of Tientsin as a warning to Chinese authorities that they must dismiss a magistrate who is known to hold anti-Japanese views. Fancy a United States battery of artillery firing blank cartridges before the parliament buildings at Edmonton as notice to Attorney General Lymburn that he must fire a magistrate because he didn't like Americans!

And from Chinese sources came information that the Japanese general staff in Manchukuo had submitted three demands to the Chinese authority in North China; the first being that the demilitarized zone must be widened so as to include Peiping—the ancient capital of China—and the city of Tientsin.

On Thursday last Japan delivered a virtual ultimatum to China, diplomatic and military officials threatening "drastic action" in North China unless issues there are settled quickly, and in accord with Japanese views.

Which may be taken as signals for the raising of the curtain for another act in the tragedy that is being enacted in the Far East. Military campaigns in North China are staged in the winter season. The conquest of Manchuria began in September of 1931.

MR. BALDWIN TAKES CHARGE

The long-expected has happened at London. Mr. Baldwin replaces Mr. MacDonald as Premier, and the cabinet has been reconstructed, with some new blood taken in. Since Mr. Baldwin has commanded the big battalion in the National coalition, it was only a question of time when he would assume the leadership, and of late the party papers have been simply hounding Mr. MacDonald to get out and let him in.

Ill-health is given as the reason for the retirement of the former Premier to a cabinet post with nothing to do; but it may be supposed the health of the Government, rather than that of Mr. MacDonald, was the main consideration. The Ministry has been losing popularity of late.

What the accession of Mr. Baldwin may mean in the way of a change in attitude toward the Dominions on trade matters will of course be known when it is shown. The probability is it will mean a stiffening in the terms of the Ottawa agreements.

The driving force in the National Government for higher tariffs and more exclusive terms is Mr. Walter Elliott. That he will have a larger say in the matter is to be assumed, and the date for revising the agreements is approaching.

HE SCORED A HIT

Mr. Duggan thinks Major Douglas does not at all understand how desperate is the plight in which the Alberta farmers find themselves. Farm incomes, he says, have dropped from an average of "more than $25 an acre to less than $6," while "very many farmers have no effective demand whatever in the form which their creditors can accept or use." He very effectively contrasts this position with that of 1929, "when our land was yielding $25 an acre, we had plenty of credit, everybody wanted to lend money to us, and it was easy to pay our debts."

It seems quite likely the Major failed to grasp how completely western agriculture has been wrecked during the last five years. A visitor could hardly be expected to sense the extent of the devastation in three short weeks, or even to believe that the ruin was quite so widespread as the figures show.

But to do him credit, the Major did appear to grasp the idea that the farmers need some more money, that the only way they can get it is by monetizing some of the wealth they now have "in a form which their creditors cannot accept or use," and that if this were done it would again be possible for them to pay their debts, facts which seem to be curiously hidden from certain gentlemen who are situated to apply remedies to the situation, even without adopting the Major's plan. Further, it should be said that the Major had no part in bringing about the deplorable condition thus correctly presented.

Whatever Mr. Duggan's presentation of these terrible facts may have to do with the soundness of Major Douglas' theory, there cannot be any doubt what they do to certain other "established and recognized principles" upon which the monetary and trade policies of Canada have been based during the last five years. Which policies are demonstrably responsible in very large measure for the conditions the provincial Conservative leader so aptly describes; for which conditions Mr. Duggan further admits there is no prospect whatever of relief to the extent of $25 a head "by the application of these" same principles.

Mr. Duggan may be congratulated in that if he did not "get" the party he went after he "got" somebody else, in the person of Premier R. B. Bennett.

The Passing Show

By J. S. COWPER

Nothing in Zola or Dostievsky is more filled with pitiful tragedy than the end of Francis Rattenbury, one-time resident of Edmonton, noted as the architect of the Parliament Buildings at Victoria, B.C.—by far the most beautiful Parliamentary pile in the Dominion.

J. S. Cowper

It's not merely that his wife is a suicide, her chauffeur-lover awaiting the hangman's noose and himself hurried to his end with his head battered in by a mallet; it's the sad reflection that a man with so high a sense of beauty in his mind should have fallen into so sordid an environment where drink, recriminations, cocaine sandwiches and the nickname of "Rats" were possible. The end of another creator of monumental beauty—Stanford White, who was Exhibit 1 in the Thaw murder trial—was not half so poignant as the end of Francis Rattenbury and those near him.

There was a time when I used to have a seat in the B.C. Legislature, and though the acoustics in the Chamber are vile, and the lay-out of the interior far from modern, the sheer beauty of the domed exterior always held me in thrall—as it does most visitors to the B.C. capital. That a man with so pure a sense of beauty of form and substance in material things should so far have failed to realize it in his inner life, seems doubly terrible.

In his days at the coast, where he met his second wife, Rattenbury must have seen much of beautiful living. Nowhere save in England itself, do men grow old more gracefully than at Victoria and in the islands that lie between Vancouver Island and the B.C. coast.

At the present moment I'm preparing to put in five more years or so in legislative service—which isn't chiefly full-dress debates, but helping maimed men get their fair compensation, helping settlers to get market roads and fighting for reduced freight rates on coal—but a few years back I came almost within grasp of attaining the means to live the life of ease that most of us hope for. I came so near to it that I had plans prepared for the gorgeous life. I've just been looking at the blue-prints and specifications of a yacht I came near to having built in England at that time, and wondering if the dream will come true some day. It isn't an expensive yacht as yachts go; it has more solid comfort and seaworthiness than most boats twice her size and four times her cost. It doesn't take a lot of money to finance a rich life if your tastes are wholesome and you have a love of beauty.

I must tell you of the dream ship. She's 40 feet between perpendiculars or 45 ft. over all, with a beam of 11 feet. She's a modification of a Thames barge, which means she is full in the bilge and her space aboard is all useful. To wit:

There's a small forecastle in the bow with two pipe bunks. Abaft of that is the owner's cabin, 12ft by 11ft, with spring berths at either side and drawers under, two built-in wardrobes, a dressing table and washstand. Abaft of the owner's cabin is a saloon, 10ft by 11ft, with a settee and dining table, a dresser, a writing table and two swivel chairs. Between the two is a small bathroom with hot and cold water etc., entered from the deck as well as from below.

Aft of the saloon, built into the round of the stern, is a guests' cabin, 8ft. by 11ft., with two spring berths with drawers under, washstand, dressing table, two small wardrobes and a small writing table. Built in between in a galley, ventilated and entered from the deck as well as from below, with gas stove, sink, hot water boiler, etc. Hidden by pannelling under the companion (staircase from the deck) is an auxiliary engine with generator for electric light.

The auxiliary engine would give the boat a speed of 6 miles, but her main power would be sail. She is two-masted with ketch rig and spritsails. This is a very handy rig, all inboard. One man could handle the boat. The coamings are of teak, and the craft equipped with compass, binnacles, etc., and capable of deep sea sailing. With everything complete, including dinghy, bedding, galley equipment, etc., the craft was to stand me a little under $5000—a veritable and beautiful floating home.

Of course, I had my little pleasure island up the coast, with cottage and orchard all ready, but an island is not a very big financial consideration. Mine measures about 90 acres, but when Mr. and Mrs. Ray Moore, late of Edmonton, were there two weeks ago, they wrote me that they were lost on it for 45 minutes, even though they had a local resident to show them over the place, so cut up is it with bays and headlands and bush.

I saw some time ago a most lovely island of about 130 acres, situated in a protected bay amid the most enchanting setting. It is separated from a larger island by a canoe passage. Dividing it from another twin island is a large salt lagoon that would be admirable for oysters, or for bathing—or for both. It has deer-hunting, salmon and cod fishing at its front doors. Big game hunting is only three hours away by motor boat up a majestical fiord. I suppose it could be bought for little more than a thousand dollars and afford someone infinite pleasure and good health in making it a little kingdom of comfort and peace.

It's amazing with so many ways of winning a lovely and healthful life that people with the means to encompass it so often fall to the lure of the artificial life of the city with its temptations to laziness and drink and all that accompany them. Unless we have a useful purpose to put it to, most of us are really better off without wealth. Better pray with Agur, the son of Jakeh "Give me neither poverty nor riches."

The Dionne parents aren't the only folk whose lives have been made bitter by having easy money placed within reach.

The Socrates method of debate seems to be coming back. Mr. Manion asked ten questions regarding railway amalgamation, and Mr. Beatty counters with as many questions of his own. It's a pretty good method of debate at that.—Ottawa Journal.

Nervous Indigestion

By DOCTOR FRANK McCOY

One of the most striking things about "nervous indigestion" is the sudden changes in the way the patient feels. One day he is miserable and fears cancer; the next day he may feel fine and the day after that he says he could feel better and he could feel worse. If you compared him to an automobile you could say that when he feels worst he is in "reverse" and rapidly going backward, when he feels best he is in "high" and when he is between he is in "low" and doesn't seem to be getting much of anywhere.

Dr. F. McCoy

Nervous indigestion refers to a functional stomach disorder which means that the stomach fails to do its work well because the nerves which control it are disturbed. The stomach is controlled by the automatic nervous system and is under the direction of the sympathetics and parasympathetics. The sympathetics derive their name from the fact that they act in sympathy with the emotions. Through this action, any emotional upset or conflict will act upon the sympathetic nervous system and in turn affect the stomach causing various digestive disturbances. Any emotional problem which seems too hard to the patient to solve is capable of inducing continual worry, anxiety and indecision resulting in nervous indigestion. The close harmony between mind and body is clearly shown in cases of nervous indigestion when indigestion becomes the physical sign of a mental strain. In fact, the symptoms point so strongly to a stomach disorder that they may fool the patient completely.

Nervous indigestion may give rise to any symptoms seen in organic stomach trouble and include: a dull aching sensation in the pit of the stomach, a feeling of pressure or fullness, or the patient may say he has a continual burning feeling in the stomach. Excessive gas, belching and a bitter fluid which rises in the throat are other common symptoms. The patient may become hungry between meals, and says "I have a weak, 'all gone' feeling in my stomach when I get hungry." Dizziness is a very common symptom in those patients with nervous stomachs. When the attacks of indigestion are of their height, the patient may be nauseated, his hands are cold, his legs tremble, he is bothered by gas pressure and nothing he eats agrees with him. A significant point is that when it is necessary for the patient to give his whole attention to what he is doing, his symptoms fade away.

The patient with nervous indigestion is sensitive emotionally and belongs to that same temperamental group from which come artists, geniuses, and men of brilliant achievement. In looking for a solution for the underlying conflict which he has not solved, he is pulled first one way and then the other, he remains in a sort of emotional earthquake, emotionally unsettled and uncertain. Like a man in an earthquake, he doesn't know where to turn for safety.

The situations out of which conflicts may arise are many, however, some of the common situations are: any situation which causes a deep sense of inferiority; being married to the wrong person; not being married when the desire for marriage is strong; being forced to do work for which one has no liking; continued financial insecurity or the type of strain placed upon the man in a small business during depression are also potent causes of nervous indigestion.

Read my column tomorrow, for another article on nervous indigestion.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

QUESTION: Mrs. Thomas R. writes: "I am a widow fifty-eight years of age. Have always had splendid health, but recently my nose bleeds often and profusely. It nearly always starts when I am out walking."

ANSWER: You may be suffering from high blood pressure, in which case your nosebleeds are a relief to the excessive pressure, acting somewhat as the "blood-letting" treatment of a few years ago. Walking temporarily raises your blood pressure and that may account for the fact that your nose bleeds more frequently when you are out walking. Have a blood pressure test made.

QUESTION: Mrs. V. says: "Please give me your opinion of the food value of unbolted cornmeal bread."

ANSWER: The unbolted, unrefined cornmeal is a healthful food and is placed in the starchy class the same as all grain foods. When this bread is used, it should be taken in combination with the non-starchy vegetables.

Horoscope

By MARY BLAKE

Be careful that you do not strain yourself through some form of physical exertion. If you are wise you will steer clear of controversial subjects, or try to force your political, as well as religious ideas, on others.

Married and engaged couples, as well as those anxious to sow the seed of love, will have to be careful to say or do nothing that is likely to have an irritating effect, for anger may easily be aroused.

If a woman, and June 11 is your birthday, you may have formed the habit of hop, skipping, and jumping from one thing to another, without any special reason. Your speed of thought, like a fast horse, must be kept under control, for satisfactory results to be had. Your married life more than likely will be filled with happiness, and comparatively free from problems.

If a man, and June 11 is your natal day, your strong personality might be most advantageously employed as a lawyer, doctor, salesman, insurance or stock broker, as well as in an artistic or literary line of work. You should find a wife a great blessing.

On This Date

A Day in Canadian History —o— By FRED WILLIAMS

On this date in 1828 the first temperance society in Upper Canada was founded, in Bastard township in the Johnston district, largely as the consequence of propaganda sent out from Montreal, which, curiously enough, was the centre of all temperance agitation at that period.

The movement spread rapidly over Upper Canada. In 1829 societies were organized at Beverley, Ancaster and Stoney Creek. By 1830 the Canadian Watchman was able to announce that "temperance has commenced its glorious and irresistable march." Mr. H. D. Wadsworth, the corresponding secretary of the Montreal Temperance Society, reported that by 1833 there were 100 societies in Upper Canada with a membership of 10,000 and that twelve newspapers lent their aid to the advancement of temperance principles.

The organization of these societies was clearly local; they belonged to no provincial organization. It was some time before there was any attempt at union. The Bastard Township society in 1830 recommended a union of all local bodies and offered to provide the first executive but, although other societies endorsed the proposal, nothing was done until 1836. On February 23 of that year a meeting of the societies in the Bathurst district was held at Carleton Place, but there is no record that anything resulted from the discussions. The first real unification took place in the Presbyterian church, St. Catharines, August 30, 1836, when there were present delegates from Thorold, Lundy's Lane, Pelham, Smithsville, Beamsville, Grantham, Gainsborough, Niagara, Allanburgh and St. Catharines. The influence of this Niagara demonstration was so strong that at a meeting held at Toronto on September 28 a provincial society was actually formed.

The coming of the rebellion stayed the movement for a while, but after the union of the provinces in 1841 co-operation was secured and the work was pursued with much vigor. There was at one time in the 50's an attempt to organize a prohibition party to contest every seat in Upper Canada, but this failed of success, though a bill aiming at prohibition was actually introduced in the assembly, but was never pushed to passage, the legislators realizing that public opinion was not ripe for so drastic a step.

If you are interested in the history of the temperance movement in these early days write to J. J. Talman, Assistant Archivist of Ontario, Queen's Park, Toronto and ask for a copy of his paper on the subject published in the Ontario Historical Papers, Volume xxvii, from which I have drawn my data.

ONE WAY OUT

Editor Bulletin: The world is full of simple truths today, and I believe that it does not take reams of copy to make this plain, or to find the way out of our present economic dilemma.

I claim that three changes I propose will without doubt work best in the country with the greatest overproduction with the most millions of unemployed under the present financial system. I further claim that overproduction and unemployment of today are the most necessary things for that unlimited and true prosperity that is so very close at hand, and yet in danger of being delayed for how long no man can tell.

The three changes I propose will not be in conflict with human nature.

It is not a scheme to take from the rich and give to the poor.

Neither is it communism—nor inflation or more debt. It is not Social Credit or social dividends or any other abjectionable thing.

But it will help even the capitalistic profit system.

The free competitive system.

The law of supply and demand.

Private enterprise or initiative.

Over-production will be a blessing (no evil like today). It will completely abolish unemployment. It need not in the slightest disturb our present business institutions except banking and that only slightly. The sound banking practice of today will still be the banking practice of tomorrow.

It can give to every man, woman or child an honest days pay for an honest days work without in the slightest endangering the country's financial credit neither home nor abroad.

Here is the scheme:

Change one: Incorporation of all the country's banks into one single nationalized unit, controlled by national board or government, using present paper currency, which will be more than ample, under present business and banking methods, barring hoarding; this currency should be marked national and only used within the country, where its value is backed by anything you can buy for it.

The purpose of the national bank is to thaw out currency that otherwise is frozen and make it available in case of national emergency in a sound, safe and sensible manner for the welfare of the country as a whole.

The value of the national dollar is regulated by high or low wages paid for public works, and amount of safe credit issued by banks and other financial institutions; these items with others also regulate buying power and production to any extent desired and possible within reason.

The credit or currency of this bank will (barring hoarding) be as inexhaustible as are the waters of the Pacific ocean; and yet by the experience we have gained in finance the last generation the national dollar can be made as cheap or dear as desired.

Change two: Out of this national bank's funds or currency the federal government uses, without paying back in any way or form, sufficient money for public works to absorb all unemployment and for any national emergency. As this national banking system under present business and banking methods can not be bust or go bankrupt—it need not stay solvent.

The purpose of change two is to give government inexhaustible means to do away with every trace of unemployment for those who will do an honest day's work for an honest day's pay, and in case of national emergency to buy over-production at fair production cost and store or sell same at foreign competitive prices. As the government can not lose one cent by such transactions it should not compete with private enterprise where not necessary, as that would undermine confidence in such private enterprise.

Change three: One separate international bank owned and operated by federal government, its currency to be marked international and backed by the gold and silver supply of the country. This international currency to be used only for international or foreign needs.

This international bank to finance or handle all the country's public financial obligations or credits abroad and all financial transactions necessary for export and import.

This bank must stay solvent.

The purpose of this bank is to take away from any private citizen or national or international financial institutions any power to influence the buying power of the national dollar within our country.

Each of these three changes are interdependent and each one must perform the purpose for which it is meant or they will all fail.

CARL WULFF.
Anselmo, Alberta.

A general and a colonel were walking down the street. They met several privates, and each time the colonel saluted he muttered, "The same to you."

The general's curiosity soon got the better of him, and he asked, "Why do you always say that?"

The colonel replied: "I was once a private, and I know what they are thinking."

Man Needs Opportunity More Than Annuity

By R. T. ELLIOTT, K.C.

Only when apportunity is absent; when no work can be had; when no produce can be sold at a price equalling cost of production; when real estate has been wrecked as regards sale, loan and rental value by greedy special privilege legislation—does any political importance attach to a plan for sharing the wealth of the nation among the individuals of the nation.

Hopelessness is the great, one might say the only, incentive to a share-the-wealth-movement.

Helplessness, either from reaching the age limit as regards active work, or from illness or infirmity, should be taken care of on a far better and more liberal system than civilization has yet attained.

The policy of government should be the bringing of constructive opportunity to every individual capable of active work. This sounds like a large order, but, in reality, it is much more within our national power and our national means, than our present policy of arbitrarily selecting by tariffs and quotas certain branches of commerce and industry as recipients of vast subsidies out of the general earning power of the nation, and throwing upon the earners the burden of paying these vast subsidies in addition to earning a living.

One truth which is obstinately refused recognition is that the most dangerous condition in national life is a condition of obstructed opportunity to any substantial percentage of the people of a nation. When you begin to pick out one class and give it vested rights to collect money from other classes, you begin to pile up fuel for the flames of revolution.

Another truth which is obstinately refused recognition is that while it is necessary to collect money from each taxpayer in order to pay for the services rendered by government and the security created by government—there is a corresponding duty upon government to afford to each taxpayer a full and equal opportunity with all other taxpayers to engage in work, business and commerce, without any discrimination as regards the obtaining and use of currency and credit.

Under our present insane system all railway and corporate taxes are passed on to the individual members of the public and in the final analysis all taxation is paid out of wages—including in wages the earnings of farmers and fishermen and miners.

The answer is that even in North America, where there is supposed to exist a state of society rendering it necessary to shut out immigrants by the strictest of immigration laws, ninety-seven percent of the entire population have no money and no asets beyond their earning power and some clothing and furniture. Everything they have in the world can be taken from them by proclaiming hard times and throwing them out of work; and in time cycles it is so taken from them.

Amendments to the Criminal Code have no effect on this condition. The remedy must be two-fold. First the wiping out of all special privilege by putting the tariff on a revenue basis so far as regards all nations in the world who will admit Canadian products on the tariff for revenue basis. Second, the placing of all transportation facilities and all credit facilities at the disposal of every citizen on a basis of absolute freedom from special pvivilege and discrimination.

This will necessarily include a system of nation-wide distribution of basic products to all communities on a basis of equality in delivered price, recognizing the right of every citizen to most favored treatment in cost of living conditions. It is a simple matter of adjusting the rates of transport to the entire cost of transport on a nation-wide condition, instead of the present haphazard system of hundreds of different rates arbitrarily inflicting fines upon people for living in places of their choice, instead of the real wealth-creating policy of bringing equal opportunity to each citizen in each locality.

In the aggregate volume of greatly increased traffic the railways would be taken care of on a much safer and more adequate basis than is now possible; and the agitations and energy wasted in efforts to obtain equality of opportunity would be turned into constructive channels.

North America has given a continental demonstration of the fact that there is no national safety in any system which is not based on equality in human opportunity. All the scientific theories about the necessity of creating special privilege in order to maintain the full dinner pail have resulted in demonstrating that there is no sense in carrying a dinner pail which has nothing in it.

As W. M. Davidson Sees Aberhart's Social Credit

power in a much divided house, he will see to it that the party that rules will accept his mandates, with perpetual turmoil and confusion as an alternative. It would be the alliance of the Nazis and the German Nationalists over again.

I make these statements of fact before referring to some reasons why some Albertans are supporting the Aberhart candidates.

"Let him have a chance, he cannot do so very much harm. He is a godly man," one says. "If he can get us that $25 a month, that will surely help. If he cannot do it we shall be no worse off than before." "I am tired of political parties. You say he cannot do anything because of the constitution. He cannot do anything very desperate without bumping into the constitution, which will hold him up, so why not take a chance. It cannot be so very desperate."

In reply to these people I shall make four observations.

1—Alberta has already suffered considerable loss by the threat of the coming of the Aberhart party. Bonds have fallen several points, which is a misfortune, not so much for the bondholders as for the province. People are withdrawing their money from Alberta banks. They are selling property and not reinvesting. Manufacturers or capitalists with money to invest are delaying until the decision is reached. These are the mild indications when the storm cloud is far off.

2—If Alberta were electing Mr. Aberhart merely to make the experiment, though unwise, that might not necessarily be disastrous. If the voters elect sufficient supporters to put him in office no power can prevent him and them from taking full control and holding it for the next five years. There is no recall.

3—What is very alarming is that at the time when efforts should be made to balance the Alberta budget, Mr. Aberhart and his supporters are sweeping along with a program of extravagance and recklessness which is enough to take away the breath. I am not referring now to the millions and millions for the Basic Dividends, but to the preliminaries before anything whatever is done. Here is what he plans to do at the very beginning (1) Take a complete census among other things to pry into "financial standing of private citizens." Census taking is the responsibility of the Dominion and would involve about $250,000. (2) Commission of constitutional lawyers to formulate the act. (3) Commission of experts to fix just price, fix wages, etc. (4) Establishment of credit house, with many branches in large cities and smaller branches throughout the province. (5) School for educating officials.

That would likely involve an expenditure of $1,000,000 before a wheel turned or the act framed and before he knows whether he can legally do anything he is attempting.

4—He will then embark on a program of expenditure the like of which has never been undertaken in any other province or in any state in North America. I do not believe that he will be able to issue money but he plans a clumsy subterfuge in his non-negotiable certificates which will have somewhat similar results in the matter of inflation.

He may not be able to impose an import tax as he threatens, but he will go so far as to excite retaliation from other provinces and destroy the markets of Alberta manufacturers and producers.

He may not be able to organize the Just Price as he plans, but he can create such chaos among the business men, that will take years to emerge from the confusion.

He may not be able to fix the rate of wages, but he will make enough of an effort to create turmoil among working men and endless strikes.

He will probably be unable to pay one Basic Dividend, but before he gets to that point he can load upon the province such additional debt, as will keep it under for a generation.

The selection of that party would be a reckless experiment involving the province in millions, even if the people never got any further than to learn that all the fantastic promises could not be carried out. This period would not be an experimental interlude, or a blank, but a serious reaction and a costly mistake.

Tomorrow I shall present the concluding article.

The DARK BLOND

By Carleton Kendrake

BEGIN HERE TODAY

MILLICENT GRAVES, secretary to GEORGE DRIMGOLD, finds her employer in his office dead. JARVIS HAPP, a stranger, offers to help her. He sends her to a beauty shop where she is transformed into a brunet, then takes her home, introducing her as his secretary. She meets Happ's son, NORMAN; his stepson, ROBERT CAISE; MRS. HAPP; DICK GENTRY, Happ's partner; VERA DUCHENE, Mrs. Happ's maid.

In Happ's home Millicent sees the mysterious "woman in black ermine" whom she believes has some connection with Drimgold's death.

The chauffeur is found dead. Later Happ is kidnapped.

Millicent and Norman learn the car driven by the woman in ermine belongs to PHYLLIS FAULCONER. They go to her apartment, find there the missing suitcase of books. Millicent discovers a shortage of $200,000 in Gentry's accounts.

They leave and later return. Millicent waits in a cab while Norman enters. When he does not reappear Millicent goes into the apartment.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XLI

"NORMAN!" Millicent called. "Where are you, Norman?"

There was no answer.

Millicent groped for a light switch, found it, snapped on the lights.

The apartment was in the greatest disorder. Chairs were overturned. The table had been tipped on its side, a leg smashed, and millicent was horrified to discover several ugly dark splotches on the carpet, on the furniture, and even on the wall itself. Evidently there had been a terrific struggle. She flung open the door of the closet and looked inside, hoping yet dreading to discover some trace of the man she loved.

The closet was empty.

She rushed to the kitchenet and here, again, the result was the same. There was no trace of Norman Happ.

She stood undecided, wondering what could be done, hardly knowing which way to turn.

As she stood there she heard a sharp knock at the door.

Millicent stood perfectly still. Then, sure that Norman could not be in the apartment, and hoping that the person at the door might provide a clew to his whereabouts, she ran to the door and opened it.

A man stood in the doorway—a thick-set, beefy individual with a very red face, who gave every evidence of having dressed hastily. His coat was open, showing the upper part of a suit of silk pyjamas. The lower part of the pyjamas protruded, Millicent noticed, beneath the bottom of his trousers. She noticed, too, that he wore shoes such as she understood policemen usually wore.

"What's going on up here?" he demanded.

Millicent said, "Who are you?"

"I'm the man who lives in the apartment down underneath you."

"What do you want?"

"I want to know what's happening up here. There's been a hell of a commotion. You can't put on a party like that in a respectable apartment house. My wife is sick and I was taking a bath. I had to get out of my bath, throw on the first clothes that came to hand and come up here."

"How long ago was it you heard this noise?" Millicent asked.

"You ought to know," he said. "You live here, don't you?"

Millicent hesitated for a moment and then, deciding not to admit or deny anything, said, "Will you kindly tell me what right you have to ask questions?"

"Don't get high hat with me, sister. It won't work. You know what's been going on here."

He tried to push the door open and enter the apartment, but Millicent held it firmly, so that he could not see into the place.

"Don't you dare come in here," she said.

"Listen, lady, what kind of a party has been going on here? You seem quiet enough now, but you certainly made a hell of a commotion a few minutes ago."

"I'm sorry," she told him, "if your wife is ill. There won't be any more disturbance."

"Everyone gone home?" he inquired.

"I'm the only one here, and there will be no more disturbance."

He looked at her suspiciously. "I'm on the force," he said. "It sounded to me as though there was a fight going on up here. Are you hurt?"

"No."

"Anyone hurt?"

"I tell you I am the only one here."

* * *

"Okay," he said grudgingly. "You don't look as though you'd been beat up, but it certainly sounded to me as though someone had popped you a couple on the jaw. You're sure you ain't been in a fight?"

"Certainly not."

"Well, don't try any more stuff like that because you can't get away with it—not with me downstairs, you can't. I'm telling you now my wife is sick and I don't want to have to come back. What you do up here isn't any of my business as long as you're quiet about it, but when you start making a racket like you did 10 minutes ago you're going to have some explaining to do. Do you understand?"

"I think," she told him, "I understand entirely the purpose of your visit."

She tried to bank the door shut, but he thrust forward the thick sole of his broad shoe and kept her from closing the door.

"Now, wait a minute, sister," he said. "There's nothing to get in a panic about. Why are you so anxious to get rid of me? What have you got in that apartment?"

"Nothing."

"Don't tell me that; you're frightened. As soon as I said I was on the force all the color went out of your face. You're so nervous you're shivering like a leaf. Now you ain't got anything to be afraid of. I'll telephone the boys and have him taken in. But it was a big fight going on up here a few minutes ago and you're not fooling me any by telling me the gang has gone home. I'm coming in."

"Indeed you are not. You can't enter this apartment without a warrant."

"Sister, wouldn't I look cheap if it should turn out there'd been a murder committed here and I came up to the door and let you talk me into going back and letting you make a get-away?"

"Why, what do you mean—a murder committed! The very idea!"

"Yes," he said, "why not? But you're not fooling me any, and all of this talk isn't getting you anywhere. I'm coming in."

She tried to stare at him in blazing indignation, but knew that the fear which gripped her heart was showing in her eyes. This man was an officer. He would enter the apartment. He would see there had been a fight. He would see those tell-tale dark stains. He would insist on calling the police. Millicent hadn't told him that she was Phyllis Faulconer. On the other hand, she hadn't denied her identity. She would never be able now to back up, change her story and tell him that she had merely come to the apartment to see what had happened to her friend. Even if she told him that much he would insist that she accompany him to headquarters to make an explanation.

These thoughts raced through her mind and she realized that she could not extricate herself from the predicament into which she had placed herself.

Suddenly she decided to try a ruse. She knew now that Norman was not in the apartment, and she wanted most desperately to be free to find him.

"Oh, well," she said, "come on in, if you've got to. One of the boy friends got in a fight with a man who was calling on me and knocked him out."

She flung open the door. The officer entered the room, appraised the wreckage of the furniture with a practiced eye and said. "A sweet little scrap, all right. Where's the boy friend?"

"Out in the kitchenet. I don't think he's hurt badly but he's unconscious. I'm afraid to go near him for fear he might be . . ."

"Like that, eh?" her visitor remarked. "Where's the guy that popped him?"

"He ran out."

"What did he hit him with, his fist?"

Millicent, having embarked upon a career of fabrications, decided to make her story sound plausible.

"He hit him with everything in the apartment," she said.

"Yes."

"I'll take a look," the officer replied, and strode across the apartment and pushed open the door to the kitchenet.

Millicent dashed through the open door into the corridor. She ran for the stairs and was half way down the first flight when she heard a man's voice shouting, "Hey, come back here! You can't pull that stuff with me."

PROROGATION IS TWO WEEKS OFF

OTTAWA, June 10—Parliament meets today with practically all the government's major legislation before it and prorogation likely two weeks away, possibly longer. Feature of the past week was the presentation of the bill to create a dominion trade and commerce commission, the duties of which will be carried out for the present at least, by the existing tariff board.

This measure will probably constitute the main bone of contention in the remaining days of debate. The marketing bill, finance minister E. N. Rhodes' budget bills, estimated, and some of the lesser measures on the order paper kept the house busy during the week just ended, and considerable progress was made.

COAL INDUSTRY LITTLE NRA IS NEW PROPOSAL

WASHINGTON, June 10—Prospects of averting the soft-coal strike threatening the United States by creating a fledgling N R A for the bituminous industry brightened Sunday as the Blue Eagle's skeleton advanced into a stubborn Senate anti-trust battle.

Charles O'Neill, chairman, announced the producers' legislative committee had reached an accord with the United Mine Workers on revision of the Guffey coal stabilization bill. The measure would set up a "little N R A" for the coal industry, permitting price-fixing to bring producers sufficient income to cover the wages and hours demanded by the mineworkers.

Chances for Senate action on the house-approved resolution to extend a dwarfed NRA until next April were difficult to define. A compact group of Senators were back of the move to hold up the stop-gap resolution which comes from the house tomorrow. They based their fight on an issue which has shown great strength in the Senate—restoration of the anti-trust laws to full vigor.

Britishers In Los Angeles On Jubilee Picnic

LOS ANGELES, June 10.—Upwards of 8,000 former residents of the British empire, enough to make a small city, picnicked here Saturday in observance of the silver jubilee of King George.

The outdoor luncheon grounds of Lincoln Park saw a gathering of people from all parts of the empire.

Francis E. Evans, British consul and guest of honor, pleaded for Anglo-Saxon amity and declared that at a such a season of English rejoicing international ties should be even closer between British subjects here and abroad. John Tarpan, vice-president of the Sons of St. George, was another guest of honor.

Greek Government Wins Poll Victory

ATHENS, Greece, June 10.—The government won an overwhelming victory over a coalition of monarchists and other parties in general parliamentary elections on Sunday, taking 285 of the 300 seats contested.

Thirty per cent of the voters stayed away from the polls but no disorders were reported.

Statistics reveal that the average mental age of the United States is that of a 14-year-old youngster

Housing Big Problem Of National Council Says Winnifred Kydd

By LOTTA C. DEMPSEY

TORONTO, June 10. — Housing and slum clearance will be the big project with which 200,000 members of 56 local councils scattered the length and breadth of Canada will occupy themselves during the coming year, if the message of Miss Winnifred Kydd, C.B.E., M.A., president of the National Council of Women, reaches its mark at the convention which opened in Toronto today.

Looking as charming and smart as ever, with the youthful enthusiasm which makes one wonder if she is not often mistaken for one of the hundreds of girls who are under her charge as Dean of Women at Queen's University, Miss Kydd graciously received a representative of the Bulletin at her suite in the Royal York hotel. She was preparing for a busy session at the opening of the 42nd annual convention of this great clearing house of Canadian Club women today.

The impression that housing should be a matter of interest only in the crowded cities of the east is a mistake, said Miss Kydd, as she settled to discuss the serious side of the work of the council, and at once her manner lost all trace of flippancy or lightness. There is just as much need for proper housing in the west and on the prairies as there is in manufacturing centres, Miss Kydd feels, and points out in her annual report, that housing affects all the many fields of council work—child welfare, public health, education, citizenship and housing and town planning. A low cost housing project for low income groups is sought in a resolution presented by the Ontario council, and commended by the president. Miss Kydd feels that the whole nation owes a deep debt of gratitude to the Lieutenant-Governor of Ontario for his sagacious leadership in the movement for the awakening of community and national consciousness regarding slums.

CONDITIONS BAD RURALLY

The report of the Special Committee on Housing appointed by the Federal Government indicates that there are worse conditions in rural sections than exist in many of the cities; but there is no organization in rural districts to which the query can be addressed: "What are the conditions in your district?" That a national emergency will develop soon unless the building of dwellings can be greatly increased is also brought out in the report. It is felt that a national housing commission is essential for the solution of the problem, with local authorities and corporations assisting.

Unemployment has been the big issue with which the National Council as a whole has struggled, as have many other organizations, in the last year. Miss Kydd referred especially to the splendid cooperation of the 14 national organizations, such as Girl Guides, Y.W.C.A., and many smaller groups, affiliated with the council this year. The west, by the way, has contributed equally with the east in resolutions this year.

Miss Kydd herself will be in Edmonton, it is expected, later in June, as she is coming through the west en route to Los Angeles, where she will address the American Federation of University Women June 24. She has just attended the Carnegie Institute for International Affairs in New York, and will return to Montreal about July 8. Next year will be her fifth and final year as president of the National Council, an office which she has held with distinction and ability, in spite of her youth.

WHERE WOMEN MAKE MISTAKE

She is particularly enthusiastic about more and more round table discussion for women's conventions, and would advise, that in club work generally, women try not to "spread themselves so thin." Frequently women are at fault in trying to discuss and pass resolutions regarding subjects on which they are ill-informed. They read a head line about Italy and Abyssinia, and talk largely about the international situation. More and more study of fewer facts and basic sources of information will make women more effective in their work. She suggests that they concentrate closely on matters at home—child welfare, health, things about which they can do a very great deal. For the larger questions, study should come before attempted action.

The newest fashion in faces is the most natural looking. If you don't like the shiny finish, you may use a powder base or a finishing lotion. This does not require a powder over it, since it gives the face the appearance of being fresh and petal-like.

MRS. MUNSON QUALIFIES IN GOLF CUP MEET

Mrs. Curtis Munson won the qualifying round for the Brewery Cup championship played among the women members of the Edmonton Golf and Country Club on Sunday. Mrs. Low and Mrs. May tied for second place, and eliminations for the championship and first flights scheduled for Sunday will be played off during the week.

CLIMAX OF JUNIOR MEET TO BE DANCE

Climaxing a gay week of city and campus life University of Alberta Farm Young People's week attendants will be guests of honor Monday evening at a banquet and dance in Athabasca hall. It has been a happy visit for the young farmers and farmerettes and the affair this evening, with official presentation of various awards and prizes, will prove a fitting finale. Presentations will be made by Mrs. Richard Price, Stettler, president of the U.F.A. Women's association; Miss Jessie Montgomery, of the U. of A. extension department and president of the Canadian Handicrafts Guild, Alberta branch; Mr. Norman Priestley, of Calgary; Mr. John C. Marshall, and Mrs. John Bennett, of Manville.

Following dinner the Old Timers' association will play for dancing. Master of ceremonies will be Mr. J. A. McCool, secretary of the Old Timers' associaton.

Sunday was a pleasant day for the visitors. An organ recital by Mrs. F. Barber Smith, with assisting soloists in Convocation hall, was followed by a lunch n Athabasca hall.

Following lunch on Monday, strong young farmer men will display their brawn and speed at a field day in the university grid, scene of many athletic combats.

With departure of all rural visitors Monday night and Tuesday, the campus will be near deserted until the two Dominion-wide agricultural conventions convene at the university in the last week of June.

What's What

We're city people transferred to a small town where my husband has been placed in charge of a branch office. We can't get used to the incessant personal questions of some of our new neighbors. Won't you please publish something about the impropriety of that sort of thing—especially the curiosity concerning our exact age?

MRS. C. D.

Answer: According to Chinese etiquette, it is possible to show interest in a new acquaintance by inquiring, "How old are you?" Highborn attaches of the Chinese Embassy in Washington often embarrass "still young" American women by putting this question to them. One, Miss Trente-ans, answered promptly, "Like Mr. Dooley, I'm old enough to know better"; another—strictly up to date—replied, "1935."

Occidental manners ban all personal questions. Inquisitive acquaintances who try to get information by roundabout methods are quite as rude as the direct questioners, and much more annoying. Unduly eager to ascertain the exact age of a young-looking man or woman, they will suddenly introduce some apparently guileless question, such as, "You remember the first automobiles, don't you?" That sort of thing is distinctly underbred. "A woman is as old as she looks; a man is as old as he feels." Society is not a registry office; no one is obliged to tell his or her age to all comers.

Benedict—The bridal bouquets should be ordered by you in advance, to be delivered, freshly cut, at the bride-elect's home at least an hour before the time set for the ceremony.

Nat. Council President To Visit Here

MISS WINNIFRED KYDD, C.B.E., M.A., president of the National Council of Women, who will leave Toronto following the 42nd annual convention of that organization this week, for the west, and expects to be in Edmonton later in June. Miss Kydd is going to Los Angeles to address the American Federation of University Women. She indicated in an interview with the Bulletin in Toronto that housing will be the big project of the National Council this year.

MARY PEARCE IS BRIDE OF EARLY SUMMER

One of the loveliest June weddings was solemnized in Erskine United church at 8 o'clock Wednesday evening, June 5th, when Mary Elizabeth, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Pearce, became the bride of Samuel Peter Giebelhaus, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Adam Giebelhaus. The Rev. D. C. Ramsey performed the ceremony. The church was beautifully decorated with cherry blossoms, red tulips, and ferns.

Lohengrin's wedding march played on the organ by Mr. A. Cockburn was accompaniment for the processional. The bride, given away by her father wore white lace, princess style, with long sleeves. Her veil was a coronet, was draped from a coronet of orange blossoms and she carried pink roses and lily of the valley.

Miss Dorothy Pearce, sister of the bride was charming in a frock of pastel green organdie and hat to match. Her bouquet was of pink gladiolus.

The bridegroom was attended by his brother, Mr. Daniel Giebelhaus, and the ushers were: Mr. Edward Pearce, brother of the bride and Lawrence Preston.

Mrs. Pearce wore navy blue georgette crepe with hat to match, and a corsage of red roses.

Mrs. Woolford, great aunt to the bride was in a gown of navy blue flat crepe.

During the signing of the register Miss Winnie Quick sang very beautifully, "O Joy Be Thine."

Immediately following the ceremony a reception was held at the family residence home of the bride's parents who received with the bride and groom under a large white wedding bell. The home was decorated with apple blossoms, white festoons and wedding bells. The table was centred with a beautiful wedding cake surrounded with pink and green tulle and pink tulips and green tapers were also arranged on the table. Assisting at supper were: Mrs. Gregor Thom and the Misses Ruth Valpy, Winnie Quick, Rose White, Mavis Booth, Rose Bebeau, Rose Schwindt and Florence M. Wood.

The toast to the bride was proposed by the Rev. D. C. Ramsey, and responded to by the bridegroom, and Mr. Edward C. Fisher proposed a toast to the bride's parents, with Mr. Pearce responding fittingly.

The guests present were: Rev. and Mrs. D. C. Ramsey, Dr. and Mrs. Walsh, Mr. and Mrs. Edward C. Fisher, Dr. and Mrs. Christian, Mr. and Mrs. D. A. Wood, Mr. and Mrs. G. Schwindt, Mr. and Mrs. H. Jasperson, Mr. and Mrs. Gill Cooke, Dr. and Mrs. N. Phillips, Mr. and Mrs. Gregor Thom, Mr. and Mrs. Kay (Vegreville), Mr. and Mrs. W. Ballance, Mr. and Mrs. Alex Pratt, Dr. and Mrs. Childs, Mr. and Mrs. Perring, Mrs. H. Woolford, Mrs. Keith (Holden), Mrs. M. Glanville, Miss Lydia Giebelhaus (Vegreville), Miss Dorothy Hardacre (Edson), Miss Florence M. Wood, Miss Mavis Booth, Miss Rose White, Miss Ruth Valpy, Miss Rose Bebeau, Miss Winnie Quick, Miss Rose Schwindt, Miss Mary Perring, Miss Mary Wood, Miss Betty Wood, Miss Allison Ann Thom, Miss Dorothy Pearce, Mr. Dan Giebelhaus, Mr. Ted McIntyre, Mr. H. Hagan, Dr. Jones, Mr. E. Phillips, Mr. Lawrence Preston, Mr. Edward Pearce, Mr. Jack Wood.

Mr. and Mrs. Giebelhaus left by motor for Portland, Oregon, the bride travelling in a suit of navy blue triple sheer trimmed in yellow crepe, with hat, shoes and gloves to match. Upon their return Mr. and Mrs. Giebelhaus will be home after July 1, at their suite in the Kirkalta apartments.

Jordan Revue Of The Dance Very Colorful

Clever artistry, appropriate costuming, gay music and an appreciative audience characterized the annual revue of the Jordan School of Dancing in the Empire Theatre Saturday evening.

Ranging in years from mere tots to finished performers, the artists drew unstinting applause from an audience that overtaxed the seating capacity of the theatre. Solo and chorus numbers were executed with grace and rythm worthy of professional productions.

Opening with brisk military manoeuvers, the program, replete with comic and burlesque numbers, swept to a triumphant finish without a dull moment throughout the entire evening. The younger performers appeared to have a complete grasp of what was expected of them and, in turn, drew vigorous applause.

Gay modern lyrics were interspersed with the melodies of old Vienna, Russia, Holland and Spain in the musical program under the direction of S. Hobson. Enjoyable also as novelty numbers, sung and danced, was "The Man on the Flying Trapeze" and others of the same variety.

Waltz numbers, perpetual favorites, were fittingly represented by "The Merry Widow" and "The Waltz Dream."

Leading roles were enacted by Dolores Love, The Bruce Sisters, Marie Jordan, Miriam Dobson, Shirley Bellamy, Fay Schulze, Lucy Wilson, Collen Twaites, Madeline Turgeon, Margaret Keller, Betty Campbell, Doris Jordan, Maxine Beckwith, Norma Johnston, Maisie Chatters, Isobel McLeod, Marilyn Shaver, Arlene Lemmon, Violet Samillo, Kay Roe, Joyce Murray, Evelyn Howey, Lorace Kirk, Bernice Stenton, Kathleen McLeod.

Mrs. Bowen Is National "Y" Officer

MRS. J. C. BOWEN

Other officials elected were: Provincial vice presidents, British Columbia, Mrs. J. Witcomb, Vancouver; Alberta, Mrs. J. C. Bowen, Edmonton; Saskatchewan Mrs. H. A. Crombe, Regina; Manitoba, Mrs. F. C. Hamilton, Winnipeg; Ontario, Mrs. Allan Colerick, Chatham.

Social Work Must Justify Peoples' Hope

MONTREAL, June 10—"Twentieth century social work will be only a stretcher bearer and minister of first aid if it does not interpret the frustration and the pain, and help to justify the courage and the hope of the people," stated Katherine F. Lenroot, of Washington, president of the national conference of social work, in her presidential address here last night.

Addressing a crowded forum, numbering in her audience thousands of leaders and rank and file of the social service workers of the United States and Canada, with important delegations from Great Britain and Japan among other countries, Miss Lenroot declared the essence of social work is understanding. "In its philosophy there is no common man, but there are common needs whose satisfaction is the goal of individual striving and social organization."

The task of the present century was to reconcile individual freedom and social security. "Interpretation of human need, crystallization of social purpose, and transformation of the social order are supremely difficult."

IF A DOG bites you once he can be forgiven, but if he isn't taught better manners in short order, and bites again, he must be destroyed. The information was gleaned first hand from someone recently bitten, and bitten badly. It was a nasty moment, for she didn't know whether she should promptly develop hydrophobia or not, and looked for signs for several days, but nothing happened. Providing they did develop, it was not too rash to speculate on who, in the dramatically mad, hydrophobical moments should also be bitten . . . don't we all wish for a poison fang sometimes?

ALUMINUM IS NOT THE LIGHTEST METAL
BILL VENN

Many people believe that aluminum is the lightest metal known. There are a number of other metals that are lighter than aluminum. They are: Magnesium, potassium, sodium, calcium, strontium, lithium, caesium, beryllium and rubidium. Lithium, sodium and potassium are so light that they will float on water.

Women In Ministry Approved

TORONTO, June 10.—Seventy-nine presbyteries of the United Church of Canada have approved ordination of women to the ministry of the church and 26 have voted against the proposal, according to Very Rev. T. Albert Moore, D.D., secretary of General Council, who announced compilation of returns Saturday.

Returns received are from 114 presbyteries in the 11 conferences of the Dominion.

They voted as follows: For ordination of women — Newfoundland, 1; Maritime, 7; Montreal and Ottawa, 4; Bay of Quinte, 3; Toronto, 8; Hamilton, 5; London, 5; Manitoba, 10; Saskatchewan, 16; Alberta, 14; and British Columbia, 14.

Against — Newfoundland, 1 Maritime, 8; Montreal and Ottawa, 1; Bay of Quinte, 4; Toronto, 4; Hamilton, 1 London, 2; Manitoba, none; Saskatchewan, 2; Alberta, 2, and British Columbia, 1.

The result of the vote will be acted on at the next meeting of the General Council, which will take place in Ottawa, September, 1936.

DOUGLAS ASKS COALITION FOR SOCIAL CREDIT

which is to be pursued, and I am aware myself that you will require a mandate for such a decision.

In regard to this matter, and assuming accordance with the general underlying policy, I should suggest that a mandate be asked, as far as possible, for objectives rather than for mechanisms. These objectives in my opinion should be firstly those contained in the last section of my First Interim Report, and should be supplemented by a statement of ultimate objectives of which the following are fundamental:

1.—A drastic reduction of taxation, particularly upon real property.

2.—A maintenance dividend as of right, possibly small at first, and graded so as to be at a maximum after middle age.

3.—Measures designed to produce a low price level within the province, with adequate remuneration to the producer and trader.

4.—Development of internal resources based rather upon physical capacity than upon financial considerations.

All of these objectives can be attained, and can only be attained, by access to control of the local credit.

The problem is at least as much a political as a technical problem, and if I might venture to make two tentative suggestions in regard to the former aspect of it, they would be (1) that, if not at present, at some suitable time, as early as possible, a coalition government should be formed, and (2) that a Department of Public Relations should be organized specifically to deal with criticism from the public both with a view to keeping the general public informed and also for the purpose of discouraging by suitable methods loose accusations of defective administration.

It does not appear that I can do very much more in Alberta which will be immediately effective until the general situation is cleared upon the lines I have just indicated, and I am therefore devoting my attention to collecting information which will enable me to proceed in accordance with the instructions of the Government when they can be given.

If this would meet your views, I propose to leave Alberta about the 31st instant, with sufficient information in my possession to enable several months' work to be carried on in England.

Yours very truly,
(Signed) C. H. DOUGLAS.

Dear Major Douglas:

Discussions we have had both preceding and subsequent to the receipt of your interim report have had the effect of clarifying many of the issues confronting us.

My purpose in writing at this time is to fix certain ideas that developed during these discussions, which otherwise might remain rather vague.

You take the view that the field of insurance and control of credit instruments is not fully allotted to Dominion jurisdiction but that a portion of it remains with the province.

Having reached this conclusion you make three recommendations which are not ultimate objectives but merely preliminary steps in the direction of reform. If nothing further could be done these measures would be of little avail.

You stated that the ends to be achieved through social credit, namely, the distribution of a maintenance dividend and the securing of a low price level within the province, with adequate remuneration to the producer and the trader, can only be attained by securing access to control of the local credit, and that the distribution of dividends from a fund to be raised by a levy on production or by sales tax would be merely a redistribution of the purchasing power already available in Alberta, ineffective in attaining the results sought, and would not be social credit as expounded by you.

To my suggestion that the people of the Province are expecting that your report to the government will outline a social credit plan applicable to Alberta you replied that without much further study of statistical data with respect to production, imports and other economic factors, it is impossible to state at what time or in what amount maintenance dividends could be paid, and further that until the power to deal with the public credit has been secured plans for dealing with it are wholly premature.

I would like to express my appreciation of the readiness with which you placed yourself at our disposal at all times and your unfailing courtesy throughout all our lengthy discussions.

Undoubtedly questions will raise themselves in our minds as a result of our continued consideration of these matters, and I will be writing you from time to time as there is occasion to do so.

Yours faithfully,
(Signed) R. G. REID.

In reply, Major Douglas then forwarded the following communication to Premier Reid:

Dear Mr. Reid:

Thank you for your letter of June 1st.

In regard to the latter three of the five paragraphs of the first page of your letter, I would suggest that these appear to be a paraphrase of the subject matter of my report perhaps rather than a precis of our discussions. Since the report itself is highly condensed and the matters to which you refer cannot, I think, be with propriety detached from the subject matter which is included, I think it would be preferable to regard the report itself as covering them with the greatest possible brevity.

In regard to the first paragraph upon page two, much the same remarks apply in reference to my letter to you of the 23rd ultimo. While it is quite correct to say that the power to deal with the public credit in some form is a pre-requisite of any Secail Credit plan, I am precluded from putting before you plans for the use of such credit when attained until I have a decision from your government as to the general policy which is to be pursued.

8-T-30 onorsha

I assume, of course, in this connection that no paraphrase of any statement made by me will be made public from official sources, and that should you deem it desirable to publish any documents over my signature, the whole document will be published. It is probably superfluous to add that comment on such documents when published in full is wholly legitimate.

In conclusion I should like to thank you for your very kind remarks in the two concluding paragraphs of your letter, and to assure you that I have found my conferences with your cabinet both pleasant and interesting, and that I hold myself entirely at your disposal for any assistance that it is in my power to give, either in regard to this matter or any other matters which would be a convenience to you, owing to my presence in London.

Yours very Truly,
(Signed) C. H. DOUGLAS

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—WITHOUT CALOMEL

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

If you feel sour and sunk and the world looks punk, don't swallow a lot of salts, mineral water, oil, laxative candy or chewing gum and expect them to make you suddenly sweet and buoyant and full of sunshine.

For they can't do it. They only move the bowels and a mere movement doesn't get at the cause. The reason for your down-and-out feeling is your liver. It should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily.

If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You have a thick, bad taste and your breath is foul, skin often breaks out in blemishes. Your head aches and you feel down and out. Your whole system is poisoned.

It takes those good, old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." They contain wonderful, harmless, gentle vegetable extracts, amazing when it comes to making the bile flow freely.

But don't ask for liver pills. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. Look for the name Carter's Little Liver Pills on the red label. Resent a substitute. 25c at drug stores. © 1931 C. M. Co.

The Man You Marry Is Full Of Faults

A large percentage of the women who get divorces do so because they suffer from the delusion that if they could only get rid of the ordinary, commonplace men to whom they are married they could find their ideal mates. It is not that they have any real grievance against their Toms, Dicks and Harrys, or even that they are not fond of them. It is only that the said parties do not come up to their hearts' desires, and they have persuaded themselves that somewhere there are husbands who are godlings waiting for them.

Dorothy Dix

The poor Dumb Belles do not realize that the only perfect husbands in the world are the men you do not marry.

The man you marry is as full of faults as an egg is full of meat. Like the sinner of the Prayerbook he does those things which he should not do and leaves undone those things which he should do. Only in a wife's fancy exists that paragon of a husband who is a composite portrait of Clark Gable and Mr. Ford and Job and Fred Astaire.

For in real life even the best of husbands have the defects of their virtues and if they are long on one good quality they are apt to be short on another. If, for instance, a man is domestic, he is almost certain to be so wedded to his own hearthstone that his wife virtually has to use dynamite to blast him away from it and into his evening clothes when she feels like stepping out to a night club.

If, on the other hand, he is of a gay and pleasure-loving disposition and strong in the belief that home is only a place to go to when everything else shuts up, then nothing that his wife can do will domesticate him. He will always spend his money on opening champagne for chorus girls instead of paying the baby's milk bill.

And there a woman is. No matter what sort of husband she has he is not quite up to specifications. He is not just exactly what she wants. He may be as good as gold, yet not exciting. He may thrill her to the marrow of her bones, yet tear her heart to tatters with his selfishness and cruelty. He may be the most faithful of husbands, yet so disagreeable to live with that she would gladly hand him over to any other woman who would take him. Or he may be loveable and pleasant around the house, yet a rounder who keeps her green-eyed with jealousy.

These and similar faults such as forgetting anniversaries and being bored by their wives' relatives and grumbling over bills and making satirical remarks about wives' new hats are the universal characteristics of the common or garden variety of husbands. No woman has ever seen a single member of the species who was not marked with these stripes, but every woman believes that somewhere there exists a husband without flaw or blemish who would never contradict her or get on her nerves or rile her temper and of whom she would never tire, and with whom she would be blissfully happy if she could only find him.

He would never have any nerves and tempers of his own. He would never come home tired, worn out with work and anxieties and filled with despair. He would never expect his wife to make any return for all he did for her. He would never think that she should wait on him like a servant and make him comfortable. He would never find fault with her if the food was unfit to eat and half he made was wasted in bad management and senseless extravagance. Oh no. He would just think his wife perfect, no matter what she did, and spend his life on his knees adoring her.

Of course, there are no such husbands as these. They exist only in women's imaginations. But every year thousands of wives divorce the good men to whom they are married in the belief that they can somehow find the ideal husbands of their dreams.

Sun Bath Gives Pep

By GLADYS GLAD
"America's Most Famous Beauty"

ALICE WHITE

Tiny, blond-haired Alice White of the cinemas, who has more pluck than any Hollywood lass I know, is considered virtually indefatigable by her associates. Alice, who is very peppy, walks, swims and exercises a great deal daily. She believes that activity keeps the mind alert and the body healthy. But she also realizes the value of relaxation. Every day, winter and summer, she takes a long, healthful sun bath, and it is thus that she believes she conserves her strength and vigor.

Personally, I wish that all women were as conscious as tiny Alice White of how effective properly-timed sun baths are in insuring physical health and loveliness. For most women only half understand how much the sun's rays can do for them. The sun does marvelous things to the body. It kills germs. It often cures ills that defy other remedies. It builds up resistance to disease. And it activates worn tissues, revitalizing them and filling them with radiant life and power. It is the ultra-violet sun rays that have life-giving power. And since these rays do not penetrate through glass, clothing, fog or smoke, it is necessary to seek exposure to the direct rays of the sun, as Alice does.

Try to take a sun bath every day, if you can, during the summer months, for the sun's powers are at their best during these months. And if you can't take a sun bath daily, take one as often as you possibly can. Loll around in your yard in a brief bathing suit or shorts, or bask in the sun on your roof, if you are an apartment dweller. Let your tissues soak up the beneficial rays of the sun, and you'll be amply repaid by your increased energy, health and beauty, for health is beauty.

Begin circumspectly, however, if you intend to take sun baths. Do not expose yourself for too long a period of time at first, else your skin may become burned and coarsened by the unaccustomed exposure. When taking sun baths always use good sense. The first day or two, expose yourself to the sun's rays for only about 20 minutes. Then increase the length of your period of exposure each day, until finally you are spending an hour or two daily under the beneficial rays of the sun.

MAN CAN TALK WITH GOD, SAYS NOTED PSYCHOLOGIST

DR. FRANK B. ROBINSON

A new and revolutionary religious teaching based entirely on the misunderstood sayings of the Galilean Carpenter, and designed to show how we may find, understand and use the same identical power which Jesus used in performing His so-called Miracles, is attracting world wide attention to its founder, Dr. Frank B. Robinson, noted psychologist, author and lecturer.

"Psychiana," this new psychological religion, believes and teaches that it is today possible for every normal human being, understanding spiritual law as Christ understood it, to duplicate every work that the Carpenter of Galilee ever did—it believes and teaches that when He said, "the things that I do shall ye do also." He meant what He said and meant it literally to all mankind, through all the ages.

Dr. Robinson has prepared a 6000 word treatise on "Psychiana," in which he tells about his long search for the Truth, how he finally came to the full realization of an Unseen Power or force so dynamic in itself that all other powers and forces fade into insignificance beside it—how he learned to commune directly with the Living God, using this mighty, never-failing power to demonstrate health, happiness and financial success, and how any normal being may find and use it as Jesus did. He is now offering this treatise free to every reader of this paper who writes him.

If you want to read this highly interesting, revolutionary and fascinating story of the discovery of a great Truth, just send your name and address to Dr. Frank B. Robinson, 12 6th Street, Moscow, Idaho. It will be sent free and postpaid without cost or obligation. Write the Doctor today.—Copyright 1933, Dr. Frank B. Robinson.—Advertisement.

Good Taste

By Francine Markel

"Please give me some instructions as to how my maid should serve meals." M. R. S.

Answer—Courses are served individually. The waitress should go to each guest's left when passing a dish, from which the guest may help himself. The serving dish is held upon the palm of the waitress' left hand with a folded napkin under the dish. A serving fork and spoon should be placed on the serving dish—not on the tray. The waitress places and removes one plate at a time, waiting until all guests have finished before removing any dishes. The woman guest of honor should be served first. Service then continues to her left. Since a servant should never reach across a guest to place or remove a dish, beverages are always placed or removed from the right side; bread and butter from the left side.

Necessary Facts For Successful Canning

By MARY E. DAGUE

Sister Mary

If you're planning to can your garden and orchard surplus this year, take a leaf right out of the book of the great canning companies and make the journey from tree or plant or vine to kettle a matter merely of minutes insetad of hours. It will make all the difference, as you will see next winter. And, of course, use each fruit or vegetable in its prime, ripe, perfect, bursting with flavor.

But before you come to the picking point, get ready all your equipment—rubbers, cans, tops, kettles, hot water bath canner, steamer or waterless cooker.

For canning non-acid vegetables you will need a steam pressure cooker, or else you must use a hot water canner with precautions. One precaution is lemon juice added to each pint jar of hot water canned asparagus, corn, peas, string beans and greens—two teaspoonsful to corn, one teaspoonful to the others. Then be sure to add an eighth of a teaspoonful of soda when you heat the corn to use. Otherwise you will taste the acid.

KILL ALL BACTERIA

Too much cannot be said about the need in canning of a temperature that will kill all germs; about sealing that will completely keep out germ-laden air. Fruit and vegetables canned in glass should be kept if possible at a temperature between 45 and 60 degrees F.

To can vegetables by hot water bath, according to the newest and most scientific methods, simply prepare as if for immediate use. Add water to cover, heat to the boiling point and cook, in most cases for three minutes. The time to put the lemon juice in is after the cooking is finished. Then dip the mixture straight away into hot, thoroughly sterilized jars, adjust rubbers, which should be brand new, and covers, which have been completely sterilized.

Remember that you will not need the lemon juice for any vegetables if you use the pressure cooker. This is really the safest and best method, the only one, indeed, that gives you absolute certainty of a temperature high enough to destroy bacteria that cause spoilage.

If you are canning corn, be sure to pluck it in the milk and use at once. Cut from the cob, add boiling water to cover and bring to the boiling point. Boil three minutes and stir in the lemon juice. Add a teaspoon of salt and one of sugar to each pint jar, fill the jars to within half an inch from the top, half seal and process two and a half hours in hot water bath canner or for eighty minutes at fifteen pounds pressure in steam pressure cooker. Then remove from hot water and finish sealing. Cool quickly. If you have used a pressure cooker, turn heat out and let stand until gauge reaches zero before taking cans out and finishing the sealing.

Green beans are boiled for five minutes and packed in jars loosely with water in which they were cooked to cover. They get a half teaspoon of salt to each pint jar and should be processed after half sealing an hour and a half in the hot water bath, or forty minutes at fifteen pounds pressure in the pressure cooker.

LIMA BEANS AND GREENS

Lima beans are treated in precisely the same way, except that they need two hours in the hot water bath or an hour at fifteen pounds pressure in the steam pressure cooker. Greens should be steamed or cooked until wilted in the water which clings to them after a thorough washing, then packed loosely in jars with enough of their own cooking water to cover. That should mean half as much water as greens. They need the same time of processing as the lima beans—two hours in the hot water bath or an hour at fifteen pounds pressure in the steamer.

FIVE-MINUTE FUDGE FROSTING

Melt one square of bitter chocolate, add three tablespoons hot milk and one tablespoon butter. Stir in liquid, two cups of light brown sugar which is free from all lumps. Add one teaspoon vanilla and stir until very smooth. By omitting the chocolate you have a delicious maple frosting.

DAILY TRUE STORY

FALSE COLORS

By Jeanette Lewis

So careful was G. Pendergast Horton in the matter of leasing a country estate that he had his attorney come to his home in another State to receive instructions.

One trouble about being enormously wealthy—and there are plenty of troubles connected with vast wealth—is that the modern Croesus has little privacy. If he crosses the street and buys a bag of popcorn it is considered to be news.

Mr. Horton, despite his wealth, was a most estimable gentleman and he had other worries aside from his own wealth. Chief of these was Waneta Horton, known to her select few as "Nita." Nita was a splendid girl, that part was no worry at all. But Nita had inherited worldly goods from two grandparents, so that if Nita so much as politely nodded to a young male acquaintance the society news-hounds would rush a tip in to their papers to the effect that so-and-so was likely to marry the world's wealthiest maiden.

SECLUDED PEACE

It took a vast amount of tact, diplomacy, force, and plain and fancy lying to keep fortune hunters and, who knows?—would-be kidnappers—away from Nita. Or to keep her out of their clutches, as the case may be.

"Want a nice big country place—five-year lease, Simpson," Horton said to his attorney, "want to lease it under the name of—er—um—er—"

"John Pondexter is a good name," the lawyer suggested.

"Right. Not a soul to know, not even the party I lease the place from. You'll send the checks. Want to have a secluded place of a hundred acres or so, with walls or fences and guards. It's got so she's afraid to step out of doors."

And so, in due time, Mr. Horton was told about the St. John Burnside place. Burnside had lost everything and was trying to sell his big estate. His agent would be pleased to accept a five-year lease.

Thus it was that with great secrecy Horton and his pretty niece went out to Ashwold, the Burnside place. They went out as Mr. John Pondexter and Miss Pondexter. It was supposed that they were father and daughter.

The keeper, who lived in the handsome stone lodge down by the artificial lake, John Burns, was most helpful. He knew all about the big place, all about the furnishings, the history of the many paintings inside and, in a word, everything. He had, he said, been there since the place was built.

Nita Horton was delighted. No one could get near the house, or even on the grounds, until after the gate keeper got word. Nita enjoyed riding and swimming, but her big hobby was the rose garden in particular and the flowers in general. Keeper Burns was most helpful about the flowers.

To Horton he said: "I have a son who knows more than I will ever know about floriculture, he is finishing his course at an agricultural school. He will be home with me in a few days until he can look around and get a position."

"If he's as expert as that, I'll keep him here to supervise the gardens and conservatories, and all of that stuff," Horton said.

John Burns, Jr. arrived. He was gentlemanly, clean, and well-spoken. He was also a mighty handsome young man, Nita noticed, although her uncle didn't seem to notice that.

Every day Nita passed some time with the younger John Burns, learning about gardens. She even asked him to ride about two hundred acres with her.

Everybody seemed happy. The society reporters had her in every country in the world, except the right one, and there were stories now and then to the effect that this or that prince or earl or viscount was about to marry her.

Of course at Ashwold Nita was supposed to be "Miss Pondexter."

Horton was relieved to know that he could go here and there and attend to his affairs and then sneak back to this handsome estate as John Pondexter and be at ease. There he was supposed to be John Pondexter, a man of comfortable means able to lease a big estate.

FALSE COLORS

When winter approached Nita said that she didn't want to go south, with all the fuss and publicity and the flocks of guards. She wanted to remain right there.

"John will have the conservatories enlarged and we intend to grow some wonderful orchids," she explained.

"John?" Horton asked.

"Yes, John Burns, the caretaker's son."

"Oh yes, nice chap. I didn't know agricultural schools turned out such finished and scholarly youngsters."

"He's lovely—he's handsome and he is the nicest man I ever met," Nita declared.

"What's this? You talk as though you were in love with him?"

"I am, and I guess I'll have to ask him, he's afraid—"

"Would you marry the gardener's son?"

"In a minute."

Horton hunted up young John Burns.

"You in love with Nita?" he asked bluntly.

"Thoroughly, but don't let that trouble you, sir. Of course the idea is—er—"

"A damn good one, young man, she's in love with you."

"I'll talk to you after I see her, Mr. Pondexter."

"Ahem, I'm sailing under false colors, name's really Horton and I—er—"

"I don't care, all I care about is Nita. I'm sailing under false colors, also. My real name is St. John Burnside and I was born in this house and my father built it, when he lost his money we lived in the lodge and—"

"Stop talking money, run along and propose to Nita," Horton ordered. The young man started on the run.

A BEDTIME STORY

Story by HAL. COCHRAN Pictures by GEORGE SCARBO

The gnomes bowled for a little while and then fair Dotty, with a smile, said, "Gee, I'm getting used to all the noise you men make, now.

"In fact, I think I'd like to bowl. Give me a ball and let me roll it down toward the pins. I've watched you men, so I know how."

"A good idea," Goldy cried, as she ran up to Dotty's side. "I, too, will have a try at it. We'll prob'ly make you roar.

"Hey, Coppy, set the pins up straight, then stand a safe ways back and wait. We may try once, and then not want to try it any more."

The two girls had a lot of fun, but shortly Goldy said, "I've done all the bowling that I care to. Gee, my arm is stiff.

"Where's Duncy? Let him bowl a bit. Say, I'll just bet that he can't hit a single pin, although he'll try to give them all a biff."

"Why, Duncy is nowhere in sight," said Scouty. "I hope he's all right." A voice then cried, "Don't fret 'bout me. I've just been roaming 'round."

T'was Duncy. Then he joined the bunch, and said, "I had a happy hunch that I'd find something thrilling. Now, just guess what I have found."

The whole bunch tried to guess, but they were wrong. Then they heard Duncy say, "I found a keg of rootbeer underneath a great big tree.

"Some acorn cups is what we need. Come on, you tots, and show some speed. I'm going to have a dandy drink. Who's game to join with me?"

"I am," cried Scouty. "Find a stick. We'll ram the bung out mighty quick. And, look, here is a mallet. That will help us with our task.

"Now, Duncy, swing the mallet, and I'll hold the long stick in my hand. Be sure and hit the stick, instead of me. That's all I ask."

Your Children - By OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

I don't know the first principle of the chain letter racket. Moreover it is dreadful to be a puzzle-head and always see justification on both sides of a question.

O. R. Barton

Tolerance may be an admirable quality, but I find it most inconvenient never to be able to quite condemn anything at face value. Perhaps one can cook up more trouble for one's self by being a "tolerator" and a "justifier" than by any other process of mental discipline.

Actually the chain-letter business seems to be making a lot of people happy at present. That it must be a flash-in-the-pan is also apparent — for two reasons. One is that in time repeaters, as near as I can figure, will be left even with the board. The other is that in any game where someone wins eventually, the others are left holding the bag.

GAMBLING IS CONTAGIOUS

Sweepstakes, it seems to me are no worse means for a fool to part with his money than ringing the cane or hitting the bull's-eye at a County Fair. Oh, yes, I know the dangers, and the so-called immorality of gambling. I know all about bridge, too, and "birdies." I even know about dominoes for charity as I went to such a party once and won a brace of vases I never could have afforded otherwise.

I've even ventured two dollars at Hialeah. You, too, would have straightened your specks, studied that tote board, and peeled off an unlucky bill if you stepped within fifty feet of the track and the germ of the turf got up your nose. One goes to looksee. One stops to kibitz. Well—it's Rome and nobody knows you. "Here, boy, this goes across the board on 'Tip Toe.' Give me a ticket."

Bridge makes people mad—all betting does, or brings them to the verge of despondency. Thus I indict all gambling, not from a moral standpoint, but for the emotional havoc it creates. Real values of life recede and life becomes a repetition of false hopes and excitement that work like dope.

I have saved the whip-lash until the end. I have one perfectly silhouetted intolerance, thank heaven. It is the numbers racket.

NUMBERS IS WORSE

Of all the forms of betting, the numbers racket has resulted in more superstition and more insanity, to say nothing of morbid depression and jealousy and resentment, than any other type of get-for-nothing scheme on earth.

Literally millions of children live in this atmosphere. Think of it—parents talking numbers at breakfast, dinner and supper, hunting through dream books, counting birds, adding up street cars, interpreting sneezes, tipping off telephone and street numbers—the whole world turned into hieroglyphics, and real life as incidental as a garbage truck.

PEANUT A LEGUME

The peanut is a first cousin to peas and beans, being leguminous. It has a peculiar habit of blooming above the ground, then burying the seed pods in the ground. The peanut is very nutritious, offering fat, protein, and such minerals as phosphorus and iron together with Vitamin B.

M'GEER PLANS SURRENDER OF ALL 'COUPONS'

Vancouver $1,500,000 Issue For New City Hall Will Open Today

VANCOUVER, June 10.—An appeal for Vancouver citizens to subscribe to the city's $1,500,000 baby bond issue and a suggestion investors could show their public spiritedness by returning their interest coupons uncashed, were made last night by Mayor C. G. McGeer in a public address.

The bond issue will be open for subscription today, the money to be used for erection of a city hall and inauguration of a civic works program. The interest rate is three per cent.

In making his appeal for support of the bond issue, Mayor McGeer briefly reviewed some of the highlights of the six months he has been in office.

DIFFICULT SIX MONTHS

After explaining that if the orthodox procedure of ordering police to use force against relief camp strikers during their two-month stay in the city had been followed it would have resulted in bloodshed, Mayor McGeer switched to interest rate reduction.

"Anyone who buys Vancouver bonds on a three per cent basis today," he said, "is buying on the level that will soon be established as the standard earning for that kind of security throughout the whole of the Dominion of Canada."

IN "CIVIC INTERESTS"

The mayor concluded by declaring there is no good reason why any citizen who has the interests of the city at heart should not be willing to advance his or her money to the city for the purpose of building a city hall and maintaining the necessary public works without making any profit on it.

"Let me say to those who believe as I do," he said, "that interest should not be exacted for money loaned, that they can buy a bond as I would do, clip the interest coupon and return it to the city as cancelled.

"The lovers of money will say that is not good business, but it is good Christianity, and in the end would be good business."

Powerline Jolt Injures Two

WINDSOR, N.S. June 10.—Critically burned by contact with a high-voltage transmission line, Albert Stevens of Hantsport, N.S., and Gerald O'Brien, Halifax, were in hospital here last night. Repairing a transformer, a saw used by Stevens slipped and came in contact with a power line carrying 2,200 volts.

Hollywood Gossip

INTIMATE GLIMPSES AND INSIDE STUFF ON THE MOVIE COLONY

By DAN THOMAS

WERE Jack London alive today he might not recognize his own story in the screen version of "The Call of the Wild." The human element has been built up too much. But he would admit that it's a darn good picture. And, after all, you can't make players like Clark Gable, Loretta Young, and Jack Oakie secondary to a dog.

Previewed here a few nights ago, the film got a deservedly enthusiastic response from as many persons as could crowd into the theatre. They liked its speed, its drama, and the fact that it didn't wind up with the usual clinch. It will get that same response everywhere unless I miss myguess.

BRIDGE CHAMPIONS

There's no argument now as to who are Hollywood's leading bridge addicts. They are Ralph Bellamy and his wife. The other night they were playing bridge when a water pipe burst and literally flooded their living room. While Mrs. Bellamy was calling a plumber, the water caused a short circuit and the lights went out. So while they were waiting for the plumber to arrive, they retired to the garage and finished the rubber by the lights from Ralph's car.

The strangest request ever received by a railroad company was filed in the Southern Pacific offices here the other day. The Columbia studio wanted a quotation on the rental of 500 railroad ties for use in "Eight Bells." The ties are to be piled on the deck of a prop ship, giving it the appearance of a heavily laden cargo boat. Almost the entire picture, featuring Ann Sothern and Ralph Bellamy, will take place on this boat supposedly plying between San Francisco and Shanghai—but actually not leaving the studio.

AMUSEMENTS

CAPITOL

At once a magnificent spectacle and superb entertainment, "Cardinal Richelieu," which came to the Capitol theatre Saturday, surpasses even "The House of Rothschild," the earlier triumph of producer Darryl Zanuck and his star, George Arliss.

The story opens with the feudal lords plotting against Richelieu because he has persuaded the weak ruler, Louis XIII, to issue a decree confiscating their lands.

Their leader Baradas, the Queen Mother Marie and Louis' wife, Queen Anne, poison the King's mind against Richelieu and he is about to sign the Cardinal's dismissal when the latter slyly appears and frustrates the plan.

A charming love story is provided by Lenore, Richelieu's beloved little ward, and Andre de Pons, a fiery young conspirator against the Cardinal, whom Richelieu wins over and marries to the girl to outfox the profligate King's scheme to make her one of his courtesans.

When the sly Baradas convinces the impulsive youth that Richelieu had tricked him into the marriage for the King's convenience, Andre agrees to kill the Cardinal. Andre goes to do the deed, but Richelieu again wins him over and feigns death when Baradas' men break in.

STRAND

William Gargan, who has the masculine lead in the production, "Traveling Saleslady," which is at the Strand theatre today recently crossed the Atlantic with only one suit of clothes. He says he became so wardrobe conscious he never has worried about clothes since.

"I hopped for New York to spend a few hours visiting Mrs. Gargan," said the actor. "I had planned to stay there only a few days, so wore only one of my blue suits.

"However, I decided on the spur of the moment to go to London for a few days. There was no time for me to get clothes. I figured on borrowing a suit from the purser, but his figure compared favorably with Guy Kibbee.

"When I got to London, I went berserk in a tailor shop and bought about eight or ten suits and all the fixin's.

RIALTO

The splendid acting talents of Ann Harding and the fine writing of "Elizabeth" are deftly combined in a picturization of "Enchanted April" showing today to Wednesday at the Rialto theatre, one of the more famous novels by the anonymous authoress.

Such a rare combination is made possible, which brings the popular story to the screen with an able supporting cast. The characters who became known to a reading and play-going public of more than a quarter of a million are portrayed by Miss Harding as Lotty Wilkins; Frank Morgan, Reginald Owen, Katharine Alexander, Jane Baxter, Ralph Forbes and Jessie Ralph.

"Mutiny Ahead" is the added feature on the program.

Not in many a day has there been a film so replete with thrills and action. And shrewdly enough, the producers have seen that the story does not lack for romance, well taken care of by the handsome Neil Hamilton and the beauteous, exotic appearing Kathleen Burke.

As the title implies, "Mutiny Ahead" is a rip-roaring tale of the open seas. Beginning in the sumptuous residence of a millionairess, the story wends its way to the decks of the Star of India, a schooner chartered by Miss Burke for a treasure hunt in the South Seas.

A vitaphone musical "Eggs Marks The Spot" complete a splendid show. A new piece of the "Breath O' Spring" dinnerware will be given Free to every lady with a 35c admission afternoon or evening, today Tuesday and Wednesday.

MARCHERS ARE HALTED UPON FREIGHT TRAIL

On-To-Ottawa Trekkers Will Stay in Calgary Until Tonight

CALGARY, June 10—Relief camp strikers on the "march-to-Ottawa" will remain in Calgary another day, staying here until Monday evening.

Leaders of the strikers, it was understood, were awaiting reports from the East before taking to the freight-train-trail which is to take them to the Dominion capital, there to seek abolition of relief camps and the establishment of a "work-and-wages" program.

MANY RECRUITS

Scores of single unemployed men in Calgary and adjacent camps were reported to have joined the strikers, while a contingent of 150 came from Edmonton during the week-end. The total number who had joined was not known tonight as the strike directors said there had been no official check-up yet. There was no organized trek from the Alberta camps, aside from the Edmonton contingent, the recruits coming in by twos and threes.

NEED MORE FOOD

Another day's food allowance may be sought from the Alberta government, to cover Monday's meals, but relief officials here understood no more grants would be given the men in Calgary.

Saturday's tag day brought $1,302 to the strikers' funds while an additional $82 was received by private donations of citizens.

Special rates have been given the strikers by East-end restaurants, the men being fed 15-cent meals. Food donations also have been sent to the Exhibition grounds, where the men are quartered, by Calgary housewives.

DAMAGED SHIP REACHES SYDNEY

SYDNEY, N.S., June 10.—Damaged in collision with another freighter in the fog-blanketed Cabot Strait, the Donaldson line steamship Nubian lay at a wharfside here last night awaiting repairs expected to enable her to continue her voyage to England on Wednesday.

The 6,384-ton vessel's forepeak was badly battered Friday night in collision with the Canadian Pacific freighter Beaverhill. Little damaged, the 10,041-ton Beaverhill continued on her course from England to Montreal.

Canon Shatford Takes Rest Cure

MONTREAL, June 10.—Rev. Canon Allan P. Shatford, rector of the Church of St. James the Apostle, is ill at his home here and will be kept in bed for a month, at least, his physician stated last night.

One of the best known Anglican clergymen of the country, Canon Shatford served overseas with the 24th Battalion with the rank of major.

CHURCH FUNDS BY TITHES IS NEW PROPOSAL

MONTREAL, June 10.—From Rev. W. G. Brown of Saskatoon, former moderator, the general assembly of the Presbyterian church in Canada has received a suggestion money be raised for church purposes by the tithe system.

Made during consideration of the budget and stewardship committee report at Saturday morning session, the proposal was scheduled for weekend discussion by the committee. Mr. Brown coupled his proposal with a criticism of the church's present system of raising money.

The morning agenda contained 11 items but commissioners spent nearly the entire session debating the committee report, submitted by the convener, Rev. William Barclay of Hamilton.

Irish Republic O'Duffy's Aim

DUBLIN, Irish Free State, June 10.—General Owen O'Duffy, leader of the Blueshirts, who resigned last fall from former President William T. Cosgrave's United Ireland party, declared Sunday for an Irish republic.

He told a youth league convention a republic was the objective of his organization.

General O'Duffy condemned the separation of the Free State and Northern Ireland. He declared the Irish question would never be settled while an inch of Irish soil remained outside the jurisdiction of the Irish people.

Oldest Smithy Is 81 Years

KINGSTON, Ont., June 10—Noxon H. Williams, Battersea, 81, Sunday declared he was the oldest blacksmith in Eastern Ontario. He said he had been shoeing horses for 61 years, and still at it. He was born at Bath, Ontario.

FARM YOUNG PEOPLE HOLD UNIVERSITY FIELD DAY

Edmonton Bulletin
AN INDEPENDENT NEWSPAPER IN PUBLIC SERVICE

EDMONTON, ALBERTA—MONDAY, JUNE 10, 1935

Demonstrations At 'U' Farm On Feed Problems

Animal Husbandry Department Reveals Results of Research in Mixing of Grain Foods

Attended by farmers from the Edmonton district and attendants of the University of Alberta Farm Young People's Week, annual field day of the U. of A. department of animal husbandry was held at the University farm, southwest of the campus, on Saturday.

Demonstrations dealing with feeding problems of beef and dairy cattle and swine were presented for the benefit of visiting farmers. Research carried on by the animal husbandry department for the past year in connection with the above-mentioned problems was revealed.

REPORTS EXPERIMENTS

Dr. R. D. Sinclair presented reports on two experiments dealing with relative values of farm grains for growing and finishing pigs. These revealed that a mixture of oats, grain and barley, with slack, produced a gain of 1.35 pounds per pig per day and produced a larger number of finished pigs than when an individual grain and slack was used.

When the grains were fed alone, wheat proved slightly more economical than barley and barley more economical than oats. Mixing the three grains resulted in more economical gains than when one was fed alone.

TWO-YEAR TEST

The experiments were carried on throughout 1933 and 1934 and results were based on prevailing grain and slack, and livestock prices for those years.

M'Conkey Will Not Seek Office At Next Election

The following open letter has been received by The Bulletin:

"I shall not be a candidate in the next provincial election.

"I shall vote, in order of my individual choice, for candidates who advocate and I think, if elected, will introduce, if necessary, and support legislation:

"1—To use proportional representation by the single transferrable vote as the form of election for the entire province.

"2—To use social credit according to the Douglas principles, and employ Douglas to form a plan of social credit suitable to Alberta.

"I shall oppose any attempt to influence the voter to arrange his choices otherwise than according to his individual preference.

"WM. A. McCONKEY"
9905 86 avenue, Edmonton.

CARS COLLIDE: GIRL INJURED

Eileen Duby, aged 17, 11418 103 avenue, received a slight gash over the left ear and a scratch on the leg caused by flying glass, when the car in which she was a passenger collided broadside with another at the intersection of Portage and Kingsway avenues, at 8 p.m. Sunday.

William E. McClocklin, 12912 104 street, driver of the car in which Miss Duby was a passenger, was travelling west on Portage avenue when an auto driven by Howard E. Battrick, 10835 98 street, entered the avenue from the north. McClocklin swung to the left and Battrick to the right to avoid collision but the cars struck broadside, doing considerable damage.

Mrs. McClocklin was riding with her husband and in Battrick's car were Mrs. Battrick and Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Morris. McClocklin stated he did not see the other car until he was too close to avoid it as the sun was in his eyes.

HOWSON ON RADIO TONIGHT

Dealing with the many problems which confront the people of Alberta at the present time, W. R. Howson, K.C., M.L.A., leader of the provincial Liberal party, will begin a series of 20 broadcasts tonight, Monday, at 9 p.m., over station CFRN.

These broadcast speeches will outline the policy of the provincial Liberal party. Since he became leader in 1932, Mr. Howson has travelled many thousands of miles throughout the province, making himself familiar with local conditions.

He has also received many suggestions from the economic conferences held by the party in 1934, culminating in the province-wide conference which produced the present party platform.

This experience and insight into matters of moment promises to make the broadcasts of utmost importance.

Military Orders

The Garrison Sergeants' mess will meet Monday, June 10th, at 20.30 hours at the Prince of Wales armouries.—(Sgd.) J. G. Farrell, Rec. Sec.

19th Alberta Dragoons, "B" squadron orders issued by Major H. P. Rocke, officer commanding: "B" squadron will parade at Connaught armoury on Tuesday, June 11th, at 8.00 p.m. Dress: Uniform. All members of the squadron intending to go to camp must attend this parade.—W. C. Carter, Lieut., 19th Alta. Dragoons.

Ruler Of Elks In Edmonton

DR. W. E. SPANKIE
Grand Exalted Ruler of the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks of Canada and Newfoundland who is in Edmonton today to attend the two-day convention sessions of the Alberta Elks' association.

COUNCIL WILL TALK INCREASE IN FOOD SCALE

Relief Committee Recommends Against Advance in Allowances

Question of whether or not food allowances for relief cases will be increased as demanded by unemployed or whether the recommendation that no advance in the scale be given, as recommended by the special relief committee, will likely be decided by city council at its regular meeting, Monday night. A report prepared by auditors shows that the cost of food this year is 2.15 per cent. higher than it was last year.

Commissioners and Thos. E. Garside, city solicitor, have prepared reports on the Northwestern Utilities' gas franchise, which expires this fall. It is shown in the reports that if notice of discontinuance of the agreement is given at the present time by the city it will have the effect of cutting off the revenue of five per cent. of the company's gross receipts paid to the city each year.

Several petitions for gravelling have been received from residents in the various parts of the city, and will be considered by city council.

Cigarettes Stolen From News Stand

Large quantities of tobacco and cigarettes were stolen from the Avenue News Stand, 8941 118 avenue, when the premises were broken into Saturday night, it was reported to the police by F. J. Pollard, proprietor.

Entrance was gained by breaking the glass in the front door, reaching inside and releasing the Yale lock. William Romanysin, shoemaker, who resides next door, stated he heard two men in the store between three and four a.m. Sunday, but thought it was the proprietor and a friend.

Police Court

Four small city merchants were fined the minimum of $10 and costs for breach of the weights and measures act when inspectors testified that their scales were off balance, giving one-half to three-quarters of an ounce shortage on every weight. The storekeepers receiving the penalties were G. Anton, M. Mendryk, A. Odynsky and M. Arvantes.

It was a first offence in every case and all testified that they did not know their scales were off balance. T. D. Fitzsimon was appointed by the department of justice to prosecute.

Wallace McCaig and Mabel Hebner, charged as vagrants when they were arrested in the Alberta hotel, were discharged when defence counsel A. W. Miller adduced that their room rent was paid up in advance.

Found in the bush on 107 avenue between 113 and 114 street, asleep with a bundle of harness, including four bridles, beside him, Abraham Pepin, halfbreed of St. Albert, was fined $10 or 20 days on a vagrancy charge.

ALBERTA ELKS OPEN TWO-DAY MEETING HERE

Delegates Officially Welcomed By Lt. Governor W. L. Walsh

Openng a two-day convention in Edmonton delegates from every Elks' lodge in Alberta are attending the annual Alberta Elks' association convention which opened at the Elks' club rooms on Monday morning.

Delegates to the convention were officially welcomed to the city by Lieut. Gov. W. L. Walsh, Hon. R. G. Reid and Mayor J. A. Clarke, all of whom expressed their pleasure at seeing the delegates in Edmonton and wished the convention and its business every success.

The sessions of the convention are being presided over by Alex. McIntyre, of Calgary, president of the Alberta Elks' association, and Dr. W. E. Spankie, grand exalted ruler of the order for Canada and Newfoundland is also in attendance.

Delegates will be entertained by the local Elks' lodge during their visit. On Monday night at the Tivoli the patrol team competition for the Pendray shield will be held starting at 7 o'clock, and will be followed by a dance. On Tuesday evening the delegates will be guests of the Edmonton Elks at a smoker at the Elks' club, a program of entertainment by local artists being provided.

His Honor Lieutenant-Governor Walsh paid a high tribute to Elkdom when welcoming the visiting delegates, specially stressing the work of the order amongst Boy Scouts.

"That movement is my pet," he stated, "and I can assure you that your order has my very best wishes in the splendid work you are accomplishing, not only in Alberta, but throughout the world."

He lauded the manner in which the benevolent work of the order was carried on. The good accomplished was seen on every hand, but there was no flourish of trumpets, no seeking of popular acclaim. He placed the value of the work accomplished by Elkdom on a parity with that done by the Red Cross, the Daughters of the Empire, and other great service orders.

TREMENDOUS DEMAND

His Honor stated that if these orders did not continue to carry through their charitable work there would be chaos. Demands on governments, federal, provincial and municipal, were tremendous, he said, and the contribution of Elkdom was lightening that burden. "I am convinced governments could not carry on without the co-operation of such orders," he stated.

"It was the duty of all to assist the order, and others similarly employed in welfare work to gain the greatest benefit for all. Noble men and women were giving of their best to bring sunshine to thousands, not the least of these being the Elks of Alberta," he said.

"I have great pleasure in expressing the sincere hope for the success of your deliberations at this convention, and trust that you will be able to continue and extend the marvellous work accomplished amongst the youth of Canada," he concluded.

FREEDOM OF CITY

In humorous vein Mayor J. A. Clarke welcomed the delegates on behalf of the city. As a brother Elk, he told them they had the freedom of Edmonton for their stay here. He made a reference to Lieutenant-Governor Walsh's sojourn in the Yukon, and drew round after round of laughter describing incidents of the frontier life shared by himself and the Lieutenant-Governor.

He also stated that he had a record in the Elks which for him was enviable. "This is the only order in which I have never run for office," he stated, amidst loud laughter from the delegates.

Alex McIntyre, Calgary, president of the Alberta Elks' Association, in acknowledging the addresses of welcome pledged the "love and loyalty of the order to the King and royal family, and assured Mayor Clarke that the order would be behind any movement in the city which had for its object the betterment of the people and the community.

ACTIVITIES OF ELKDOM

Then in simple words he told delegates of the activities of Elkdom in Alberta. He pointed to activities of the lodge at Lethbridge where the under privileged children were supplied with milk. In other districts community sports activities were undertaken, but in every case mentioned the work undertaken and accomplished was for the uplifting of those less capable of taking care of themselves, and to bring sunshine to the lives of those, who through stress of times, were having a severe struggle.

He said 61 lodges in Alberta with 3,910 members were pledged to work for the betterment of the lot of others less fortunate, and to inculcate in the minds and hearts of the youth of the province and abiding faith in Alberta and Canada.

Apparently some person's idea of a good joke, three round flare torches were stolen from the rear of the Stanley block, where the Northwestern Utilities are excavating and laying pipe, Saturday night. There were no reports of persons carrying them around and wondering why they were left out in the middle of the road.

Alberta Elks In Annual Convention

Edmonton Elks welcomed brother Bills from all over Alberta Monday morning at the eighth annual convention which is being held in the local Elks' home on the old penitentiary grounds. Above are the delegates protographed shortly after being welcomed on behalf of the province and the city by His Honor Lieut. Governor W. L. Walsh and Mayor Joseph A. Clarke. In the front row, centre, of the groups is His Honor Lieut. Governor Walsh, Dr. W. E. Spankie, Grand Exalted Ruler of the B.P.O.E. of Canada and Newfoundland and Mayor Clarke. Others in the group include: W. H. Heller, W. A. deGraves, John Vaselenak, Art McIntyre, A. N. "Tony" McKinley, S. S. Savage, M. MacInnes, Acme; C. N. Baker, Lloyd Turner, J. D. Wallace, E. A. Shoebotham, M. Garfin, J. F. Claxton, Dr. I. S. Irving, Ben Metcalf, W. N. McCoig, Syd Wardle, C. A. Clarke, High River; E. W. Overand, Okotoks; P. E. Kent, A. E. Prudholme, J. W. McCullough, R. J. Fowler, A. M. Johnson and J. J. Stanton.

SOCIAL CREDIT IS FASCISM SAYS RADICAL

Blairmore Communist Terms Aberhart "Best Promiser"

Social credit is Fascism under another guise, Harvey Murphy, prominent Communist from Blairmore told a large audience in the New Empire theatre Sunday night.

The speaker declared the Aberhart "promises" were not unlike in the least the promises made by Mussolini in Italy and Hitler in Germany, prior to taking over the reigns of government in those countries.

Mr. Murphy claimed that Social Credit was a new attempt to retain power for the Capitalist in this country.

"BEST PROMISER"

He read from Social Credit papers words in support of Mussolini and Sir Owsald Mosley.

"Aberhart s the best promiser we've had since Bennett came out in 1930," the speaker said.

"He says Social Credit has no fight with Capitalism. Social Credit will take nothing away from anyone and will give something to everybody. Ladies and gentlemen, the only person in the Dominion of Canada who can do that is Santa Claus," Mr. Murphy said, amid laughter.

The speaker admitted that Aberhart may be sincere.

SINCERE BUT WRONG

"He may be sincerely wrong though. If you met a 'nut' in Ponoka asylum, who said he was Napoleon would you waste time arguing about his sincerity?" he asked.

Communism promised the whole world and would give it to the workers when sufficiently organized, Mr. Murphy said in conclusion.

FLIVVER MUST BE RETURNED TO BONEYARD

Motivated by 25 youth-power, guaranteed to run, nothing able to stop it—but the police—a Ford rattlebus will have to return to the flivver graveyard whence most of its component parts originally came.

When a Mrs. Keats, 9216 110 avenue, complained Sunday night that a number of boys were running an old Ford car up and down the lane at the rear of her house, Constables Ernie Foster and Pat Meehan were sent out to check up.

They found a rattle-ribbed racer being pushed up and down by 25 youths—if the engine wouldn't make it go they would, the boys declared. It was a haywire-hung hansom of gleanings from the garbage but at that it wasn't doing too badly.

"Sorry boys, but you will have to keep it off the streets and lanes," the officers said.

So now it's for sale or rent but the boys don't want any offers—they couldn't take so little.

Monday at 8 p.m., the regular weekly meeting of the Young Liberal club will be held in the Liberal club rooms, McLeod building. A vacancy on the executive will be filled. Harvey Maloney and Ben Shugarman have been nominated for the office. Reports of the various committees in charge of the recent Young Liberal convention will be received and considered.

Gleaned From Today's News

Miss Ethel M. Doherty, left over the Canadian Pacific railway Sunday to spend the summer at Saranac Lake, New York state.

Guest speaker at the regular luncheon meeting of the Cosmopolitan Club will be L. Y. Cairns. The meeting will be held Tuesday noon in the Corona Hotel.

Louis A. Johnson, of McBride, B.C., died on June 8 in a Vancouver hospital at the age of 82. He is survived by his wife and three daughters.

Among those from Calgary who are delegates at the Elks' convention are Lloyd Turner, S. S. Savage, E. E. "Tex" Rickard, Alex McIntyre and A. N. "Tony" McKinley.

Midnight molestation of a Bonnie Doon woman was reported to police last week, the offender still being sought. Stating she had just gotten off the Bonnie Doon street car at 88 avenue and 91 street at 11:45 p.m. last Monday, the woman said she was grabbed by the shoulders by a man who came up behind her. She screamed and he let go and ran into the bush. Police are continuing investigations.

Among petty thefts reported over the week-end, A. Noble, 11615 89 en from his automobile, parked in front of his residence, between 10:25 and 10:40 p.m. Sunday. S. Robinson stated a suede windbreaker was taken from his car about 5:30 p.m. at the Municipal golf course. He had noticed a bat, ball and glove missing from the car and, seeing them on a truck parked nearby, had removed them, but later missed the jacket. Leon Beland, Morinville, stated that his overcoat was stolen from his car Saturday evening.

Mayor Incensed At Statements Of Unemployed

Incensed at repeated statements by unemployed leaders to the effect that he had ordered police to use force in connection with the recent relief strike trouble with single and married jobless, Mayor J. A. Clarke declared Monday that the only order he had given the police department was that law and order must be maintained.

"I certainly did not instruct police to use clubs on strikers nor did I suggest that any unnecessary force be used in preventing picketing. And yet these unemployed spokesmen persist in making charges that I ordered constables to use violent measures," said the mayor.

Seventy More Local Men Are "On-To-Ottawa"

Another organized contingent of some 70 single relief camp strikers "caught a drag" at the South Side C.P.R. yards at 1.30 a.m. Sunday, heading for Calgary to join the "Ottawa march." With the number in Calgary said to be nearing the 2,000 mark, leaders predict that, by the time the march reaches Ottawa, the army will number some 20,000.

Up to the present no complaint has been registered by the railway but, as the number grows, officials may raise objections to hauling the men. This will call for police action which has been withheld by Ottawa, pending complaints.

THE INQUIRING REPORTER

Service station men in Edmonton have organized with the exception of one or two individuals to petition city council to control the hours in which gasoline shall be retailed. They ask that service stations be compelled to close at 10 p.m. daily and Sunday night.

"Are you for or against such regulation?" asked The Bulletin's Inquiring Reporter today.

The answers follow below:

ROY ENNISMORE, chief poultry and egg inspector: "Service station employees are entitled to decent hours just as well as anybody else; but the early closing hours are bound to cause inconvenience to some motorists."

BILL HASZARD, British-American Station No. 3: "I am very glad you are asking a service station man his opinion. We have been working hard to get some regulation of hours. We can't afford to keep two shifts because the oil companies do not give us enough money and our men are forced to work 14 to 16 hours each day. The public, I find, would be willing to co-operate with us in a 10 p.m. summer closing and an 8 p.m. winter closing."

ALEX McLEOD, commercial traveller: "The service station may have their side of the argument, but what about us poor travelling men? We pull into the city some night with only a few drops of gas left in our tanks. The service stations are closed and what happens? We're stuck."

REUBEN PEARSON, Bellevue service station: "We have got to get through the early closing. Why should service station men work 14 hours each day—six hours longer than anyone else?"

SAM TOLLARD, travelling salesman: "If the early closing goes through it will mean that tourists and commercial men will patronize out-of-town service stations. It wouldn't surprise me to see a ring of stations spring up just outside the city limits, if hours in Edmonton for gas sales and service are curtailed."

The regular meeting of the Edmonton Loyal Citizens' Association will be held in the Moose hall Monday, June 10, at 8 p.m.

On business, H. D. Mann and W. A. Mann, Calgary, arrived in Edmonton Sunday night and are guests at the Macdonald hotel.

To spend a week with his son at Peace River, G. Hutton Potts, of Hong Kong, China, arrived in Edmonton Sunday and left for the north on Monday. On his return to Edmonton, Mr. Potts will leave for a vacation in England.

To confer with R. J. Dinning, chairman, Alberta Liquor Control Board, Charles Traunweiser, president of Alberta Hotelmen's Association, arrived in Edmonton from Calgary and is a guest at the Macdonald hotel.

Reports of delegates to the Gyro International convention and business routine will form the program of the regular luncheon meeting of the club which will be held Tuesday noon in the Rose Room of the King Edward Hotel.

Surplus of the city telephone department for the first five months of this year totalled $69,964 as compared to $62,285 for the corresponding period in 1934, according to figures supplied Comptroller John Hodgson by Supt. Robt. Christie. For May the surplus was $14,989, as against $13,748 for May, 1934. Telephones in service at the present time number 15,495, the figure for the corresponding time last year being 14,952. May, 1935, showed a gain of 75 telephones, the loss for May, 1934, being 29 and the gain for the same month this year, 45.

Bee Keepers Field Day For Lacombe

A bee keepers' field day will be held at the Dominion experimental station, Lacombe on Monday, June 17, with the program starting at 1.30 p.m.

C. B. Gooderham, Dominion apiarist of the Central Experimental Farm, Ottawa, will visit the station and will discuss the care and management of bees.

The Dominion Experimental Station at Lacombe has a well kept apiary supplied with modern equipment that provides excellent facilities for demonstrating care and management of bees.

Mr. Gooderham is an authority on all matters pertaining to bees, hence a visit to the station on this day will make possible to secure first hand information on bee-keeping from an outstanding authority.

Three Absolute Divorce Decrees

Absolute decrees were issued Monday by Mr. Justice Ford in three undefended divorce actions.

The cases, with the plaintiff named first in each instance, were:

Lawrence Hooley Craig and Lottie Hazel Craig; Wanda McIntosh and Tracey McIntosh and Frank J. Korner and Ruth Elizabeth Korner.

Decree nisi was given the suit of James St. Marie against Ann St. Marie.

CITIZENS PAY LAST TRIBUTE TO LORD BYNG

Memorial Service Held Sunday Under Legion Auspices

Residents of this city in all walks of life paid tribute to the memory of Field Marshal Baron Byng of Vimy, former commander of the Canadian Corps in France at a memorial service held at the Canadian Legion memorial hall on Sunday under the auspices of the Legion.

Men who had fought under the late field marshal in France were present, all feeling the sense of a personal loss, as throughout his term of commander of the Canadian Corps, Baron Byng had endeared himself to all.

SOLDIERS SHED TEARS

Many an old soldier, who had gone over the top on that memorable morning of April 9, 1917, when for the one and only time in the Great War the four Canadian divisions went over the top in line, thought of the splendid preparations carried out by the corps commander and his thought of every possible barrier the boys might encounter. And these old soldiers shed tears as they realized Byng had now gone to join the two other great commanders of the corps, General Alderson and Sir Arthur Currie.

The service opened with the hymn, "O God, Our Help in Ages Past," after which the Invocation was pronounced by Rev. H. A. McLeod, pastor of Robertson United church. The hymn, "Lead Kindly Light" was then sung, after which Captain Wilfred Baker read a scriptural passage.

TRIBUTE PAID

Tribute was paid to Baron Byng by Rev. George A. MacDonald, pastor of Knox United church in his address, which dealt with salient features in the Field Marshal's life. The hymn "Abide with Me" was sung.

Then Bugler J. Ratcliffe sounded the "Last Post" while all stood to attention realizing that one more great soldier had passed to his last reward.

72 ABOVE IN CITY SUNDAY

The highest point touched by the mercury on Sunday was 72 while the lowest in the last 24 hours was 51. The mean temperature on Sunday was 57 while on the same day a year ago it was 62.

At midnight the temperature was 58 while the hourly readings from then to 9 a.m. were—55, 53, 51, 53, 54, 54, 57, 60, 63.

HUPP MOTOR OFFICIAL HERE

Satisfactory increase in sales which is far in excess, during the first few months of the year, of the entire shipments of last year has been noted by J. I. Phillips, Windsor, Canadian district salesmanager for Hupp Motors, who is a visitor in Edmonton during a business trip throughout the prairie provinces.

There is every indication, stated Mr. Phillips, that this high percentage of sales will continue for the balance of the year.

NEW ENGLAND ISLE PICKED AS LOCATION

Military Committee Member Says "Continental Defence" Needed

WASHINGTON, June 10—Constructions by the United States of a huge defensive air base on an island in Lake Champlain was disclosed Sunday by a member of the House Military Committee to be under consideration by some national defence advocates.

This committeeman, who preferred not to have his name used at this time, said he and an army officer recently made an aerial reconnaisance of the Champlain area, and covered Main, New Hampshire and northern New York.

He spoke especially of one flat, unwooded island 2½ miles wide and 14 miles long. A base could be located there, he said, under the Wilcox air base bill, passed last Wednesday by the house. It designates the New England area for consideration by the war department in setting up a chain of frontier air defence bases.

"FINE IDEA"

While the Canadian government recently made diplomatic inquiries about the possibilities of a United States army air base near the Canadian line, the committee member showed reporters a letter from a high British army officer, now retired in Canada, who said:

"The idea of the United States establishing air bases along the border seemed to be a fine idea."

CONTINENTAL DEFENCE

Such a base, or series of bases, the committee member asserted, would be regarded by many Canadians as promoting continental defence rather than defence of the United States exclusively.

Mentioning confidentially the possibility of agression by one nation in particular, he added:

INTERESTS LINKED

"The interests of the United States and Canada are linked so closely that sooner or later we must consider joint continental defence and look on our bases and Canadian bases as integral parts of a unified defence system."

Representative James Wilcox, Florida Democrat, author of the air base measure, said he had assembled figures to show Canada had established five bases within 100 miles of the United States—one at Vancouver, one at Winnipeg and three in Ontario.

Czech - Soviet Aid Pact Signed

MOSCOW, June 10. — Formal ratification here of the Czechoslovak-Soviet mutual-assistance treaty Sunday completed the welding of the second link in what the signatories hope will be a Europe-wide series of such treaties to protect peace.

Maxim Litvinoff, foreign commissar, signed the treaty Saturday for the Soviet Union and Eduard Benes, foreign minister signed it for Czechoslovakia. It is modelled closely after the treaty signed between France and the Soviet Union May 2 in Paris.

Benes, who arrived here Saturday, was received Sunday by Joseph Stalin, Soviet dictator, and later by Premier Viacheslav M. Molotov.

War Canoe Tips, Youth Is Drowned

OTTAWA, June 10—Thrown into the water with 14 other paddlers of the newly-formed Brantford Beach Aquatic Club when their war canoe capsized in the back-wash of a passing motor boat, Albert Lavergne, 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Lavergne, Ottawa, drowned in the Rideau canal here Saturday.

CHILD'S PRANK LEADS UP TO DOUBLE MURDER

NEW YORK, June 10.—A quarrel which started when a little boy threw water on the new dress of a little girl Sunday resulted in the slaying of Giuseppe Fontano, 42-year-old Brooklyn tailor, and his wife Anna, 38.

"I just killed a man and woman," police quoted him as saying. Anthony Fontano, 9, youngest of the three Fontano children, threw water on the dress of Josephine Cosentino, 6. When Josephine went home crying, her mother came out to talk it over with Mrs. Fontano. The discussion developed into hair-pulling.

Fontano came out and tried to separate the two women. He was not making much headway until he sank his teeth into the left arm of Mrs. Cosentino. She screamed for her husband. Consentino ran out, police said, whipped out the pistol and shot Fontano and Mrs. Fontano.

REPRIEVE MOVE FOR STONER IS GROWING STRONG

LONDON, June 10.—Efforts to secure a reprieve for 18-year-old George Stoner, the chauffeur convicted of the murder of his employer in a sensational trial case, is gathering momentum today.

A petition asking for a reprieve already has 20,000 signatures, long queues waited Saturday in Bournemouth to add their names.

Sir Henry Page-Croft, member of parliament for Bournemouth, has written to Sir John Simon, Home Secretary, urging the question receive urgent consideration.

The case grew out of a love affair involving Stoner and Mrs. Alma Rattenbury. Acquitted of murder herself, Mrs. Rattenbury committed suicide last week. She was buried Saturday at Bournemouth.

ROAMER SCRIBE FINDS HIS GOING TOUGH IN INDIA

there, among shaggy camels and horse-faced men, it would face a red gate which said "Frontier of India."

If you made the same journey by train you'd pass through the bloody cities of the plains where moghul emperors looted the lands for 3,000 years, and cover the same ground in 1,457 miles.

But if you were to sit beside me in the shiny green car I hope to drive from one end of India to the other you'd go 5,019 miles before completing that first hop even if you didn't get lost once . . . and what a hope that is!

MAGIC KINGDOMS

In making this twisting trip you'd pass through the magic kingdoms of the mighty maharajahs, and the pint-sized agencies (many smaller than Canadian farms) ruled over by frightened little princes who play the game of being a sinister sovereign on $100 a week. You'd stay out of British India as much as possible, cross rivers where there were neither bridges nor ferries, at least two deserts where there are no roads whatever and on the return trip buck India's monsoon which is something like a thunderstorm lasting four months and getting worse as it goes on.

You'd also visit the secret forests of Udaipur, the emerald hilltops of Kashmir and the gateways of that most mystic of all countries, Tibet, on the roof-top of the world.

Preparation for a trip like this takes longer than you'd think. You have to buy beds and flashlights and mosquito nets. You have to get a license to drive and learn to stick to the left. What proved harder to me was learning to shift gears with the left hand. Three times I shot my car from first to reverse with hideous noises but no bad results except a look of absolute terror from the red-eyed youth who'd been taught to teach me the rule of the road.

Luckily I got the license without examination and next day permit to carry on the jaunt a 30.06 rifle, which soon proved to be one of the hardest smashing rifles I ever hope to handle.

Then there were extra gas tanks to be fitted (which I hopefully left empty), places for extra oil sticks to measure the depths of rivers of all things, a compass and hurricane lamps, and most important of all, maps.

GOOD MAPS

In this I got a delightful surprise because the Western India Automobile Association had far better road maps of India than anyone has ever made for Canada and information down to the last banana as to what food was to be got and where the spots to bed down if you got sick and the places where you could send a telegram. They knew all the tricks of stopping a train and hoisting your car into a special truck if the road floated away from under you, and A. H. C. Sykes, the secretary, obligingly pointed out that if there were elephants on the road I'd be warned if possible and if warned I was to stop. I'll try to remember to stop the first time the elephants come after me.

Route charts were studied here and there with such cheery signs as "Irish Bridge impassable in floods." "Roads Impassable." "Cart Track; road motorable only during season," "Toll Gate." "Official Repairer." The official repairer, it seemed, was one who had more than two wrenches.

"BAD AT ANY TIME"

Mr. Sykes thought it was a bad idea to try driving into Udaipur which is off the track from any place to any place else. His maps showed this stretch as nothing more than a white piece of paper and his files turned up this: "From Nimbahera to 17 miles from Udaipur the road is only passable during dry seasons . . . very bad at any time."

The distance was 7 miles and the secretary said that if I tried it he'd be obliged for an official report to hand on to the next carefree crazy man who came along. So you see I'm an explorer after all.

Back at the hotel, Narayan, official bottle-washer, viewed this with misgivings. He thought we should pass up the Udaipur invasion because the rains were headed our way and that particular jungle was aswarm with wild boars, the only beast which dares to drink at the same pool at the same time as a tiger. At this stage of the palaver there wandered into my room a short gray-haired truck driver with a Joe Brown grin which showed crimson teeth.

He wore a jaunty Persian lamb hat although the temperature was 87. This he carefully adjusted then clicked his heels together, saluted smartly and handed me a note. I had just touched the end of the note when he jerked it back again and hurried out of the room. It seemed that somewhere down the corrdior he had shed a shoe. He retrieved this, came back, adjusted the fur busby again and repeated the salute, this time with a double click.

The note was from Harry Arshaconi, service manager for the car company, who introduced Baboo Hari as a very helpful cove because of his knowledge of Indian swear words and the internal metabolism and glandular behavior of the car in question.

Baboo was invited into the conference on Udaipur. He instantly proved himself a man of mettle. He'd never been to Udaipur, never heard of the place, but his suggestion was to buy 100 yards of rope.

"Rope?" "Yes, sahib."

"What for?" "Car stuck in sand or mud or river we put rope on car; catch many coolies, coolies pull car out again."

"MUST WORK"

"Suppose they won't work." He turned on the crimson grin again, looked meaningly at the rifle and said he meant thick heavy strong rope. Besides who ever heard of a woman who wouldn't work? The idea of women grunting and heaving to pull a car out of a river had never entered my mind but Baboo never gave the thing a second thought so the Udaipur jaunt was on and so was the red-toothed Baboo.

That night I collected all sorts of miscellaneous information about touring through a sizzling land of 350,000,000 people speaking 222 different tongues and worshipping a million idols.

KEEP GUN HANDY

Keep the gun handy for tiger at night, carry at least two gallons of water, try to boil it, don't drive in the middle of the day, consider 200 miles a day good going, give any game the right of way, they won't bite or chase or harm you with the possible exception of the Himalayan bear. If you see a bear coming shoot steadily.

We were to be off at dawn, two blacks and a white; a Punjabi horseman, a Bombay tough guy and a reporter of six years' foreign experience. It sounded like a pretty good combination to me and we aimed our course from the gateway to K[illegible] by Udaipur and Kashmir.

WOMEN EVEN FORCED IN WAR PREPARATIONS

and decency and has a new ideal for women.

What is taking place is nothing new. It is as old as the hills. It is a degradation of womanhood to a level that prevailed in the backward middle ages. Thousands of girls are being forced into agriculture, to work on the land as slaves at pitiful wages and under the most primitive and even brutal labor conditions for no other purpose than that more and more men might become available for military service.

CALLOUS, HEARTLESS

It is the most callous, heartless and calculating militarism which is at the helm in Germany and that regime has not the slightest regard for human dignity, human rights or for the uplift of the people and least of all for women, whom it regards as useful creatures to work and produce soldiers, but creatures of a minor grade just the same. Only one thought occupies the rulers of this land: how to get ready for war and assure a crushing victory over its opponents in that war. Into this scheme woman is fast being mobilized.

The means employed are dressed up and explained with a lot of sentimental phrases which do not sound bad in the mouths of officials. But women are not even allowed to express their view on their own fate. The word of command in Germany for everybody is: "Shut up and do as you are told!" Terrible punishment is meted out to anyone breaking this rule. The outside world is thus made to believe that the German people are wholeheartedly and unanimously behind Hitler.

I have just crossed the whole of Northeast Prussia by automobile and am staying here at Ruegenwalden on the Baltic, a few hours from the Polish corridor. I have visited a camp for girls and seen the way they live. But I have also seen something else of which I will tell first.

I have seen that the parades and processions in Berlin are also a gigantic bluff, another piece of camouflage to draw attention away from what is going on in the country. The whole of East Prussia is an armed camp. Every hour we passed a new aerodrome. Every town, village and hamlet is militarized. Every community is building barracks and armories or renovating the old ones which had stood unused since 1914. Thousands of members of the male labor battalion are engaged in laying down thick cement roads. The entire country is covered with a network of such roads which will support the heaviest tanks and artillery. "Developing tourism" this is called officially.

"Es geht bald los!" That is the refrain you hear on all sides in Germany. [illegible] working three shifts. Shipyards are busy. Thirty-eight thousand marines, with banners unfurled and thumping martial music, marched into the old naval barracks in Kiel the other day and occupied the buildings of the submarine crews, which had stood empty since the kaiser's fleet was scuttled in Scapa Flow. Women are taken from their occupations and under the pretext of preparing them [illegible] land.

PUBLISHERS GIVE HONOR TO MACKLIN

Canadian Dailies, Canadian Press Fete Veteran Director

WINNIPEG, June 10 — Edward Hamilton Macklin, active for half-a-century in newspaper work, and one of the most picturesque newspaper men on the continent, was honored Saturday evening at a dinner in the Manitoba Club by his fellow directors of the Canadian Daily Newspapers Association and The Canadian Press. Forty-five newspapermen from all parts of Canada were present.

The veteran newspaper executive, for many years president and general manager of the Winnipeg Free Press, referred to the gathering as "The finest body of newspapermen who have ever thrust their feet beneath a table in Canada."

JOINT CHAIRMAN

H. P. Robinson of the Saint John Telegraph-Journal and F. J. Burd of the Vancouver Province acted as joint chairmen.

In proposing the toast to Mr. Macklin's health, Mr. Robinson said the fact so many prominent Canadian newspapermen had come to Winnipeg two days before their annual meetings testified to the esteem and affection in which Mr. Macklin was held by his colleagues.

MANY SPEAKERS

Other speakers were A. W. Robb of the Halifax Herald, Henri Gagnon of Quebec Le Soleil, P. D. Ross of the Ottawa Journal, John W. Dafoe of the Winnipeg Free Press, M. E. Nichols of the Winnipeg Tribune, Thomas Miller of the Moose Jaw Times, and J. H. Woods of the Calgary Herald.

Miner, 73 Years Underground To See Sun Shining

PONTYPRIDD, Wales, June 10. — Britain's oldest mineworker, still hale and reluctant to quit at 80, has finally retired after working 73 years underground.

He is John Rees, of Treharris, Glamorganshire, and started life in the pit at the tender age of seven.

His only comment on leaving the dark pits for good was "It will be strange to see the sunshine every day all day, now."

CALGARY RIDER WINS IN SOUTH

LIVERMORE, Cal., June 10—Pete Knight of Calgary today held the bronc riding championship of the annual Livermore rodeo.

His ride on the hurricane deck of the notorious bucking horse, Tumbleweed, yesterday, gained him the honor.

Harry Knight, also of Calgary, who was married to Ruth Mix, daughter of the cowboy film star, Tom Mix, at Reno last week, placed third in the bronc riding contest.

LLOYDS PAY PROUD FATHER TWINS BET

ST. LOUIS, June 10.—Jack C. Coffey, 34, prepared Saturday to collect on a $1,000 insurance policy he obtained last February against the chances of becoming the father of twins.

Coffey paid a $90 premium last February 20 on a policy under which Lloyd's of London agreed to pay him $1,000 if twins were born to Mrs. Coffey. He wins—Cynthia and Carol—were born last week.

Lloyd's hiked the premium on Coffey because his wife had already presented him with two sets of twins.

Premier Denies Southern Report

Premier R. G. Reid on Monday denied, as he has been reported as saying at a southern meeting, that he declared the province could not sell its bonds on account of social credit.

"What I did say," he declared, "was that the province could not sell its bonds," and left it open to deduction to my hearers. "If we could sell our bonds we would not have had to go to Ottawa for funds."

Southpaw Golfer Wins Tournament

MONTREAL, June 10. — Only rarely in golf does a left-hander win an important tournament, but J. Watson Yuile of Royal Montreal accomplished it Saturday when he took the spring open championship of the province of Quebec with a 74-76-150 score for 36 holes over Mount Bruno Country Club.

Hugh B. Jaques, like Yuile, a player approaching the veteran class, was second, two strokes behind, with 77-75, while third place went to the youthful defender of the title, Frank Corrigan of Chaudiere, Ottawa, finished third with 76-78-154.

B.C. Disclaims 75 Percent Of Camp Marchers

VICTORIA, June 16.—Seventy-per cent of the men participating in the movement of unemployed toward Ottawa have never been citizens of British Columbia, and many of them had not been registered in B.C. relief camps, provincial relief officials state.

Records show that, of the "marchers" who had been in camps, 85 per cent had come to this province within the last six months.

AUTO CRASH RESULTS IN PRISON TERM

Court Warns Car Drivers in Sentencing Henry Gordon

Stern warning to car drivers was issued by Mr. Justice Tweedie in criminal court Monday after Henry W. Gordon was convicted and sentenced to one year in jail for inflicting grevious bodily harm in connection with a collision causing injuries to Mrs. Katie Griesdorf. The accident occurred on the morning of February 16.

Evidence disclosed that Mrs. Griesdorf died on March 11 but medical testimony by Dr. Morton Hall placed thrombosois as the cause of death. The doctor would not state that superficial cuts suffered by deceased in the accident were contributory causes of death although he admitted they may have had some effect.

STRUCK CAR

The accident occurred at the intersection of 96 street and 108 avenue, the taxi operated by Gordon striking a car in which Mrs. Griesdorf was riding with her husband, at the rear door pillar.

Mr. Justice Tweedie said he regretted imposing a term of imprisonment on a young man with a good record, but observed the evidence supported the view accused had driven in a wanton and furious manner, utterly disregarding the safety of other persons. The speed of the taxi, 50 miles an hour, on slippery streets, could not be excused in the case of an experienced driver, the court stated.

"When drvers of high-powered cars and trucks drive at a high rate of speed, with no regard for conditions and people get killed, the courts can not be lenient and serve the ends of justice," his lordship said.

LIGHT SENTENCE

The fact the husband of deceased desired Gordon should not be sent to jail and character evidence produced was being taken into consideration and the sentence was much lighter than would have been otherwise the case, the court stated.

C. H. Grant, K.C., was counsel for Gordon and E. B. Cogswell, K.C., represented the crown.

SENTRY KILLED BY LIGHTNING

LONDON, June 10—Britain's Whitsuntide public holidays were ushered in today by storms that swept the southern half of the country.

Reginald Mason, 18, a Royal Marine sentry on duty at the Jubilee Gate of the marine barracks at Deal, had been at his post only a few minutes before lightning struck the sentry box, splintered it into matchwood and killed Mason.

The town of Deal itself was nearly flooded out. Folkestone and Ramsgate suffered almost as severely. Holiday camps were submerged in less than 20 minutes.

Registered Mail Carries Big Gem

NEW YORK, June 10—At a cost of 65 cents postage charges, the Jonkher diamond arrived Sunday on the liner President Roosevelt. The 726-carat gem, largest uncut diamond n the world, is insured for $1,000,000, but it was transported from England in an ordinary registered mail sack.

Freighter Aground At Point Arenas

SAN FRANCISCO, June 10—As the freighter Noyo sent out an SOS at 1.08 a.m. (Pacific standard time) today, reporting she was aground near or below Point Arenas, Globe wireless reported here.

Graham Executive Visits City

HENRY HARRIS

Mr. Harris is in Edmonton today to visit Graham distributors and dealers. He is Sales Manager of Graham-Paige Motors (Canada) Limited with headquarters at Walkerville, Ont. Mr. Harris reports an increasing demand for Graham cars and that the introduction of the new low-priced six has met with ready acceptance by motorists.

TORONTO MINE MART DRAGGY

TORONTO, June 10—The mining section of Toronto Exchange slowed down around noon and was in a draggy condition by closing time. Early price gains were not entirely held as moderate profit-taking appeared in silvers. Base metal and gold stocks traded in small volume with prices showing no important changes.

LATE RALLY HITS MARKET

NEY YORK, June 10—A last-hour rally gave the stock market a much-needed boost today after dull irregularity had prevailed most of the session. Specialties led the upturn. Many early declines were cancelled or replaced by moderate advances. The close was rather firm. Transfers approximated 600,000 shares.

INTEREST IN WHEAT EBBS

WINNIPEG, June 10—Interest in wheat futures ebbed on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange today. July closed ¼ cent lower at 83¼ cents.

Chicago held about unchanged. Buenos Aires was ¾ cent higher.

World wheat shipments last week totalled 8,225,000 bushels, compared to 11,225,000 bushels the previous week. North America's share totalled 2,000,000 bushels, against 4,000,000 the previous week.

Cash grains trading was slow. Coarse grains were off fractionally.

Whitney Letter

NEW YORK, June 10—I humbly confess that I know of no good or particularly sound reason for prices to rally at the moment other than perhaps that the tape says they are going to and being in this business primarily for the purpose of speculating I advocate the purchase of stocks. Shortly after the opening Saturday I saw sufficient evidence on the tape of a pending rally developing as to prompt me to dispatch the customary telegram to those clients who have requested it recommending the purchase of securities in anticipation of another technical rally sufficient in size as to warrant the assumption of the risks involved in speculating in any technical markup. The market closed Saturday in a very satisfactory manner and I see no reason why stocks should not be bought this morning. If you want to be ultra conservative and still participate in the anticipated rally, then I would protect any position established with a stop-loss order around the low of Friday. I realize only too well that the market has to surmount the 117 level in the industrial averages before the majority are convinced that another markup is under way. I expect the market to advance through the 117 point and I do not advocate your waiting for it to do so before acting. There was ample opportunity last week for a normal technical reaction to occur, it did not occur, so the only thing to say is that a market that won't go down can and probably will go up.

PATS and PANS

by —BILL LEWIS—

Edmonton's spring race meeting came to a grand close on Saturday with the biggest crowd of the week on hand to enjoy the day's sport . . . It was a fine climax to a fine meet that would have been just about perfect had it not been for the poor weather during the first few days.

Before leaving for Winnipeg, Charles F. Roe, assistant general manager of the R. James Speers Corporation, expressed entire satisfaction with the last four days of the meeting here and particularly with Saturday's turnout of enthusiasts.

A lot of bettors were kicking themselves plenty after the fifth race Saturday for failing to wager on Trombone, who copped the Athabasca Handicap quite handily and paid the handsome price of $10.55 for two-dollar straight tickets . . . Your agent was among 'em, unfortunately.

Trombone, heralded as the finest thoroughbred ever to race in this city, showed just why he is so highly-rated in winning Saturday's feature event. . . . A beautiful animal, he has a world of speed to go with his looks, and was given a great hand by the crowd when he went into the judge's ring to be decorated with the floral horseshoe following the victory.

Unlike most of the horses, Trombone is always decorated when he runs, his mane and tail being done up with flowers Saturday. . . . Trainer Frank "Wampus" Fuller had him fixed up as a real "picture horse" for this race.

Although a distance runner, Trombone proved he was also more than an average sprinter by out-speeding the field in the sprint event under the smart handling of Jockey L. Trimble.

Speaking of horses, you'll notice that Omaha completed the coveted "triple" on Saturday by taking the Belmont Stakes, following up his victories in the Kentucky Derby and the Preakness. . . . It is only the third time in history that this feat has been accomplished.

Senior baseballers are getting in plenty of practice these days for the long-delayed opening of their season, which takes place next Sunday.

MONTREAL, June 10.—Testing the course over which, in August, the Canadian Open Golf Tournament will be played, Bud Donovan of Winnipeg, Ken Black and Dick Moore, Vancouver, Sunday, played a round at Summerlea Golf Club here.

Young Norwood Eleven Is Defeated in Soccer Tilt Saturday

Radials marked up an easy victory over Norwood Royals in a soccer match played at Diamond Park on Saturday night. The final score was 8-0.

Royals started out in great style for the first 15 minutes, holding down their more-experienced opponents. After that, the Radials put on a power play that ended in Bobby Graham opening the scoring. Johnson followed up with two more at the end of 25 minutes play.

After the interval, Norwood played with more dash and on several occasions should have made at least a couple of goals but weak shooting spoiled them.

Radials took command of the game and before they let up four more goals had been added to their total, Bob Graham, Johnson, Jim Graham and McLean all scoring.

The next game will take place on Monday night at Diamond Park with the kick-off at 6:45 o'clock between St. Pats and the Hearts. C. Souch, referee.

All Caledonian players are requested to be at the Lincoln Hotel Tuesday night not later than 6:30 for practice.

YORK HOTEL DEFEATED BY LATE RALLY

Empire Squad Triumphs By Three-Run Splurge In Eighth Frame

A three-run rally in the last half of the eighth, featuring "Lefty" Smith's timely single, gave the Empire hotel nine a 5-4 victory over the York hotel in their fixture of the Big Four baseball league at Boyle street, Sunday afternoon.

The game witnessed by one of the largest crowds of the season, was featured with timely hitting in the pinches, remarkable fielding and a closely contested pitching duel and the outcome was in doubt all the way.

The outstanding play of the day was made in the first half of the ninth when the Empires completed a triple play. With two on base, Rabbit Martell hit into the waiting hands of Jim Kelly who hurled the sphere to Green to snag the first runner and Green in return relayed the ball to Smith for the third putout.

Smith was the hero in the Empire's win. Two runs down, two men on base and the count two and one against him, he stepped into one of Tommy Scotweld's offerings and sent it for a merry ride to centre pastures, enabling the runners to romp around to home and himself to reach third on the play to the plate. He then scored the winning run when Martell muffed Yarmoluk's grounder to short.

Golf Facts.. NOT THEORIES

By ALEX. J. MORRISON

Practice in golf pays big dividends. It's the first thing I think of when I find a player missing shots. How much practicing has he done? Has he practiced properly?

There isn't one player in a thousand who practices enough. It isn't lack of ability that keeps people from playing a good game. it's failure to develop the necessary skill. This skill is developed on the practice ground, not on the course.

One of the best practice grounds is the driving range in your neighborhood. These ranges furnish clubs and balls for a nominal fee. You can practice all kinds of shots from short pitches up to full length drives. Most of them are well lighted so you can go there after working hours. Spend a couple of hours each week on some practice ground and you'll enjoy the game more.

Germany Leading Against Italians

BERLIN, June 10.—Germany led Italy two matches to one in the Davis Cup zone matches after Sunday's play.

Gottfried Von Cramm and Heiner Henkel defeated the Italian doubles team of Taroni and Quintavalle, 4-6, 6-3, 2-6, 6-3, 6-1. Each team won a singles match Saturday.

The eventual winner will face either Australia or France in the zone semi-finals.

PONOKA COPS HARD BATTLE BY 8-3 SCORE

Gain Revenge by Whipping Delbourne Ball Club Before Big Crowd

PONOKA—June 10—One thousand ball fans saw their home club revenge a previous defeat by Delbourne when Ponoka trounced this club by an 8-3 score here Sunday afternoon. This was Ponoka's seventh straight win. The record-breaking crowd were justly rewarded as both teams dished up a brand of ball that was worthy of support.

Baer pitched a six-hit game with eight strike-outs for Ponoka, while Rattlesnake was pounded from the box in the fifth to be relieved by Swanson of Delbourne.

Delbourne started the count on their first trip to bat when H. Jamieson walked and then scored on Swanson's single. They held this one-run lead until the fourth inning when Ponoka counted two when the catcher threw wild over third, allowing Butler and Bures to cross the plate.

Delbourne tied the count in the first of the fifth, but Ponoka again counted two in the latter half. Both teams counted one in the seventh and Ponoka counted three in the eighth to cinch the victory. Malles home-run in the last inning was the feature of the game.

Don Grant Horse Whips Fine Field To Capture Purse

Spring Race Meeting Ends Saturday In Blaze of Glory at Exhibition Grounds Track—Fine Crowd Out for Wind-up

Trombone, one of the leading money-getters on the Canadian turf last season, showed a bumper Saturday crowd at the Exhibition Spring race meet just why he has a price tag of $13,000 on his noble head, by trimming a large field in the Athabasca Handicap, feature on the last-day card.

In a field of eight, the big brown horse, owned by I. D. Grant of Winnipeg, held a handicap of 124 pounds in proud disdain, and although under an additional disadvantage of outside position, took command at the quarter mile mark in the five furlong sprint and was never seriously threatened thereafter.

As Scotia's Flag was burdened with the big majority of the money at the mutuels, the blue-blooded Trombone paid the fancy price of $10.55 to win, $8.20 to place and $5.05 to show. The favorite was run out of the money, finishing fifth.

WINNER GIVEN HAND BY CROWD

Chatahoochee, winner of a race last time out here, finished a good second and gave the winner a battle all the way. Royal Flint, well liked by many took the show place. Chatahoochee paid off at $7.60 and $3.95, while Royal Flint was worth $2.90 to show.

After Mrs. John Machaels hung the wreath on the finely arched neck of the winner, the crowd applauded loudly. Trombone is the greatest horse ever seen on an Edmonton track and his honesty in taking the race seriously aroused admiration in all present. Many had previously thought the sprint would be taken only in the nature of a workout as the horse has not raced for some months.

FANS ENTHUSIASTIC

It was by far the best day of the meet from the standpoint of attendance and play through the mutuels. An enthusiastic crowd thronged the betting ring from the time the horses went to the post in the first race until the seventh event on the program.

Prices were good throughout the afternoon, despite the fact the steeds ran pretty well to form.

A notable exception was in the fourth race when Nekena romped home in front of several well fancied mounts to take first money. Two dollar straight ticket holders were paid off at $14.15. The veteran Henry Palaez gave the brown mare a beautiful ride. He brought the winner back in nice recovery twice in the seven furlong race, finishing with a terrific burst of speed to take the decision in the final strides.

DOUBLE PAYS $14.00

The daily double, High Mont to Silent Rogue in the first and third races paid off at $14.

The quinella collected from Sunny World and King Han slumped to $7.85, although Sunny World paid $6.50 to win.

The traditional get-away day performances did not materialize. The racing was close at all times but the better horses invariably flashed first by the winning post.

Backers of Dark Tyrant in the feature handicap, did a lot of "stage whisper" cussing when the spirited steed decided on a "rehearsal," breaking from the barrier and running five furlongs at top speed, before the official start. Jockey Siewert hadn't enough muscle to hold the determined nag, so he let him go after a furlong or two had been covered. The gelding didn't finish last despite his premature effort, taking seventh place out of the field of eight.

CLOSE FINISH.

The seventh race produced the closest finish of the day. Sunny World, with Craigmyle up, literally catapulted in the last 15 feet to beat out King Han who took the place. Goldstream Girl was third.

Lee Williams, well-known Edmonton horse owner and a director of the Edmonton Exhibition Association was a popular winner in the sixth race with By Wire, six-year-old gelding. It was a hot race between the winner and Miss Swarthmore, the latter being a real challenge close to the wire.

BELMONT WIN GIVES OMAHA TRIPLE CROWN

Son of Gallant Fox Runs To Brilliant Victory In Classic Event

By ORLO ROBERTSON

NEW YORK, June 10.—William Woodward's Omaha today wore the coveted "triple crown" of the American turf, his name enrolled along side those of his famous sire, Gallant Fox, and Sir Barton, the great Canadian thoroughbred that raced under the silks of Commander J. L. Ross of Montreal.

These three are the only horses ever to win the Kentucky Derby, the Preakness and the Belmont Stakes.

In winning the 67th running of the $50,000 Belmont Stakes at Belmont Park Saturday, Omaha staged one of his famous stretch drives to win by one and one-half lengths. Although running over a treacherous racing strip, made like glass by a driving rain, Omaha, 7 to 10 choice of the crowd of more than 20,000, stepped off the one and one-half miles in the fine time of 2:30 3-5. The time was only one and four-fifths seconds slower than the track mark hung up by the super-horse, Man O'War.

Walter M. Jefford's Firethorn, second to the Woodward colt in the Preakness, again was the runner-up, while William Dupont, Jr's Rosemont, conqueror of Omaha in the Withers mile, trailed by another eight lengths.

GRITS CAPTURE EXCITING JUNIOR BALL CONTEST

Tenth-Inning Rally Sets Back Safeway Nine By 7-5 Score

Second Straight Triumph Registered by Grits — Carl Loblick Pitches Fine Ball to Give Club Victory

By JACK DEACON

It took just two three-run rallies and an early inning score to upset the confidence Safeways had gained in the first inning, and the batting power of Army and Navy Grits was lethal enough to capture a 7-4 triumph in a junior game at Renfrew park Sunday.

Looking none too steady after Safeways had thumped him for four runs, Carl Loblick, the tall and lean Spruce Grove agrarian, settled down after the second inning. For eight more he gave only two scattered hits and with the surprising support from his team mates, set Safeways and Ralph Morgan down for their first defeat in three starts. It was Grits' second straight triumph.

STARTS IN SEVENTH

Exultant with their four-run scoring splurge in the first frame as Loblick and his fielding mates wilted, Safeways appeared well on their way to capture their third straight. They certainly had every confidence until the seventh, holding Grits down to one run. But it was in the seventh that things really started to happen.

Gordie Watt, who heavily hit the ball throughout the game, started the rally off with a three-base hit. Al. Fenton and Silver Lupul hit a single each and the scoring was completed by a wild throw. This trio of runs and the early innings score placed the count all square.

Throughout two more bitterly fought innings the score remained deadlocked, but the Grits proved the best fighters and in the tenth frame repeated their three-run rally of the seventh.

ERRORS HURT

This rally, however, in the tenth was not quite worthily earned. It was two errors and a little erratic hurling by Morgan which resulted in two of the runs. The first run of the rally was an earned one.

It was the first time this season that the Grits really showed any hitting power. They found Morgan for nine hits, one of them a triple by Gordie Watt. Watt was the best of the Grit batsmen with three hits in five efforts, one a triple and the others singles. Silver Lupul and Don Smith also shared in batting honors with two safeties.

For Safeways Billy Melnyk was the best with two safe blows, while Jack Superstein, Hippo Lutz, Bob Zender and Ralph Morgan had one each.

WINNING HURLER

Loblick, after a poor start in the first two innings, was the winning pitcher for the remainder of the game. He was touched for two hits in each of the first two frames, but during the remaining eight allowed only two scattered bingles.

Morgan, on the other hand, started strong, getting good support from his mates, but as his fielders faltered in the pinches, so did Morgan. He still is, however, the leading moundsman.

Melnyk started the Safeway rally in the first frame with a triple. Kokura was passed by Loblick while Maveety gained first base on fielder's choice, scoring Melnyk. Lutz' hit tallied Kokura and Maveety making the count 3-0. Zender reached second base on an error to Fenton while another error, this time to Wynn scored Safeway's fourth tally.

Grits, although they got two on base in the first, did not register until the second when Watt toured the pathways.

WATT OPENS FIRE

Loblick then twirled nine scoreless innings, while the Grits put on their winning rallies. Watt started it for the Grits in the seventh with a triple, scored on Fenton's single, while a fielder's choice put Aldridge on and advanced Fenton to third. A wild throw scored Fenton and Aldridge completed his trip around on Lupul's safety.

Wynn scored the first in the tenth rally. It was earned by some sound hitting while Lupul and Wener tallied on a series of Safeway errors. It completed a grand fight put on by the Grits.

INTERNAL WAR OF CARDINALS HELPING TEAM

Having Good Effect Upon Team Morale Instead of the Opposite

By HUGH S. FULLERTON JR.

The great Cardinal battle between Dizzy Dean and Joe Medwick, instead of leading to discord and defeat in the St. Louis club, apparently has been having a good effect.

Judging by results since the flareup at Pittsburgh last week, Dizzy and Joe are out to "show" each other on the ball field. Their work, plus a strategic shakeup engineered by Manager Frank Frisch, has brought the Cards three straight victories over the challenging Cubs and has enabled them to hold second place safe from Pittsburgh threat.

GOING GREAT GUNS

Since the "scrap" Medwick, who was already in the midst of a hitting spurt, has driven out seven hits in 17 times up while Diz, after doing some relief work Wednesday, came back to pitch a neat six-hit game yesterday while the Cards hammered out a 13-2 decision over Chicago.

A few fans tossed lemons at Dean when he came to bat the first time yesterday, but that bothered him not at all as he banged out three hits, running second in the day's clouting only to Gelbert and Jack Rothrock.

The Cards needed the victory to hold their place in the pennant struggle as the third-place Pirates hammered out a 7-4 triumph behind Cy Blanton, who pitched five-hit ball for his ninth victory and was troubled only by Ernie Lombardi's pair of homers for Cincinnati.

GIANTS VICTORS

The league-leading Giants took a close one from Boston's tail-enders 5-4 as Joe Moore's 10th circuit swat of the season provided the winning margin as well as giving Moore a tie with Mel Ott for the league home run lead. Brooklyn, rained out at Philadephia moved into fourth place ahead of Chicago.

Brilliant pitching and four-base hitting marked most of the American league contests. Tommy Bridges of Detroit, winning his eighth straight triumph, got the better of Chicago's rookie, Silent John Whitehead 4-1, with the aid of Hank Greenberg's 13th circuit swat and lost a shut-out through Marty Hopkins' boundary belt.

BOBBY THOMSON, going in his best form, took the lead at the start and under a hustling ride was never threatened. DR. HOEY showed a good effort, ran forwardly all the way and finished well to the end. MAC PHALARIS, away slowly, ran in a contending position on the backstretch, but weakened through the last furlong. TOKENA bore over on the owners, leaving the gate. She tired after three furlongs.

SILENT ROGUE, favored by the leaders racing wide at the first turn, drew up to TEXTILE in the run down the backstretch, but after taking command at the turn was forced to his best to outstay LOU MARC through the last seventy yards. LOU MARC raced forwardly and came with a burst of speed in the stretch and was wearing the winner down. PURPLE ROCK improved his position through the last quarter, but could never get to the leaders. TEXTILE took command when the leaders went wide at the first turn and held on for a half mile. BEATRICE S. and SILENT HOPE were forced wide.

NEKENA, unable to keep up in the early stages, finished well when NIKKI'S BLONDE tired in the stretch and was up in the final strides. DUMB DORA raced forwardly, closed with a rush on the outside in the last sixteenth and just missed. NIKKI'S BLONDE made the pace with a commanding lead and only weakened right at the end. LORD AVONDALE was made too much use of and had nothing left for the final drive. PERT PEGGY appeared to get into close quarters and had to be taken up.

Overweights, Chattahoochee 3; Half Saint 2; Tofli 5; Scotia's Flag 3; Peach Stone 1.

TROMBONE, handling the weight well, worked his way up on the outside in the first quarter mile, took command easily when called upon and had no trouble maintaining his lead to the end. CHATTAHOOCHEE, favored by the rail position, gained command at the first turn, held on gamely when challenged, but was no match for the winner. ROYAL FLINT followed the leaders closely and finished well to the end. HALF SAINT tired badly after being in front on the backstretch. SCOTIA'S FLAG did not display her usual early speed and was never in contention. DARK TYRANT ran away five furlongs before the race.

Aussies Triumph Over French Net Stars in Openers

PARIS, June 10.—Australia took a 2-1 lead over France in their Davis Cup matches Sunday, when Jack Crawford, Australian ace, and Adrian Quist defeated the veteran Jean Borotra and Young Marcel Bernard in a doubles match 6-3, 4-6, 10-8, 6-4.

The inability of Borotra and Bernard to break through the service of Crawford was a decisive factor in the Australian victory. Borotra showed flashes of his old brilliance but Bernard, a newcomer to major tennis, obviously was nervous.

The Australians gained the first set easily and it wasn't until the second set that the French team came to life. They broke through both Quist's and Crawford's service to win their only set. It was the only time in the day's play that Crawford's service was broken.

Young Yank Left-Hander Has Promise

VITO TAMULIS

Recruit Vito Tamulis of the Yankees won his first two full games this year, both victories scored at the expense of the Cleveland Indians. The 23-year-old left-hander from Cambridge, Mass., came to the Yankees from Newark last September, and in his only 1934 appearance pitched a shutout against the Athletics, allowing seven hits. One of his victories over Cleveland was a shutout, too.

Late Rally Wins Ball Battle For Army-Navy Team

A tenth inning rally which saw them score three runs after they had rallied to tie the count in the ninth, gave the Army and Navy girls a 11-8 victory over the E.C.D. nine in their encounter of the City Girls Baseball League at Boyle Street Park Saturday evening.

While the outcome was somewhat surprising, the store girls were nevertheless worthy of their victory and played smart ball in the late frames to gain the verdict. Incidentally it was the second upset of the week as on Tuesday the E.C.D. girls scored a surprise victory over the highly-rated Eskimos.

The winners started out with a five run lead in the second inning when they sent Molly Gagnon to the showers under their heavy hitting barrage. From here on until the seventh they held the lead but the Milk Maids scoring four runs and adding another three in the eighth overtook them.

Taking full advantage of the generosity of Prudy Harris and aided by an error and a timely bingle, the A. & N. nine managed to send three runs over the platter in the first half of the ninth to deadlock the score and send the game into an extra inning. They also scored three runs in this session to take the verdict.

Norman Farquharson of South Africa, defeated Casimir Tarlowski 3-6, 6-1, 7-5, 6-3 and Joseph Hebda of Poland, defeated Vernon Kirby 6-4, 6-1, 4-6, 6-2. South Africa had gained a 2-1 lead in the play Saturday, maintaining its lead by the split yesterday.

Father's Name Hard On Kiddies

PONTIAC, Mich., June 10.—Glafkos Pappatheodorokomoundoronicolucopoulos is literally a man of letters. His children, however, would like to do something about it, especially those going to school. They point out that it is hard to get around the pronunciation of it and to them their father is just plain "Pappa." "Pappa" plans to stick with his name, however, explaining it the combination of five generations of names.

Sam Parks Takes U.S. Open Golf Crown Saturday

Outsider Defeats Classy Field of Contenders To Win Title

By ALAN GOULD

PITTSBURGH, June 10.—Samuel Parks is one hometown golfer who made good.

The youthful Pittsburgh professional came from behind to conquer the country's foremost shotmakers and capture the United States open golf championship Saturday in a stumbling, rain-soaked finish.

Never before a winner in any major tournament, only four years out of the University of Pittsburgh and two weeks short of his 26th birthday, Parks pulled the biggest surprise victory since Johnny Goodman, Omaha amateur, galloped off with the crown three years ago.

TWO-STROKE VICTOR

The only player in the all-star field to crack 300 on Oakmont's terrifying, storm-tossed layout, Parks posted successive rounds of 77, 73, 73, 76 for an aggregate of 299 for the 72-hole route. He won by two strokes from Jimmy Thomson, Scottish born California "Siege Gun," who twice tossed away four-stroke leads over the home-town favorite and took part in a general blow-up in the stretch. Thomson finished second with rounds of 73, 73, 77 and 78 for a total of 301.

Such drama as there was in an otherwise dismal finish was furnished by none other than the 42-year-old former champion, Walter Hagen. While the other favorites faltered through the final round, the old master gave a gallery of upwards of 7500 a thrill as he gallantly tried to overhaul the new champion. The "Haig" staggered and lost control of himself finally, but he rallied at the last to come in with a 76 for an aggregate of 302 and third place.

IN TOUGH SPOT

Hagen started the final 36 holes three strokes behind Parks. He still trailed by three strokes as he matched the Pittsburgher's morning round 73. He made up this deficit with one to spare as he started with even fours for the first four holes of the final round, but he skidded into a pair of fives on two comparatively easy holes and it was again an uphill struggle. Out in 37 even par, Hagen had sliced Parks' margin to two shots. Par over the last nine would have given triumph to the old master, but he wasn't equal to it in the rain and with the strain beginning to tell.

He lost four strokes to par and Parks on as many holes of the incoming nine. As a parting gesture, he bagged a birdie on No. 17 to save third place and a good "cut" in prize money.

The British Empire hope, Sid Brews of South Africa, finished one stroke out of the money-circle. His workman-like rounds of 76, 81, 78, 77, gave him a total of 312, a creditable enough showing considering the large number of American frontrankers he left far behind in his first invasion of the country.

SOCCER TOURISTS BEAT AMERICANS

NEWARK, N.J., June 10. — The touring Scottish Football Association soccer team scored the 11th straight victory of its invasion of North America by defeating a picked United States eleven here Sunday by 4-1.

A crowd of 10,000 watched the Scots give a masterful display of clever footwork which had the Americans puzzled and bewildered, especially in the second half. The brilliant "Dally" Duncan, Tommy Walker and Billy Mills stood out with their clever play.

Sandy Somerville Will Try Another Time For Honors

MONTREAL, June 10. — Sandy Somerville is going to have another try this year for the United States amateur crown he won in 1932.

Canada's leading amateur golfer, returning here Saturday with four other members of the team which the Royal Canadian Golf Association sent to England and Scotland, made known his intention of another shot at the United States crown in an interview.

Bud Donovan of Winnipeg, who went farther than any other Canadian in the British amateur won by Lawson Little of California, and Ken Black and Dick Moore of Vancouver, were among those returning with Somerville.

The meaning of "COGNAC"

"Brandy distilled from grapes gathered within the legally defined boundaries of the Charente district of France."

The fact that the title "Cognac" receives legal protection and that only brandy produced in the Charente district of France may carry the name Cognac is ample proof that this district produces a unique brandy which cannot be equalled anywhere in the world.

TWELVE-MILE LIMIT RAISE IS DEMANDED

Fifty-Miles Suggested: 39 Ships On "Rum-Row"

WASHINGTON, June 10.—Alarmed by mounting post-repeal liquor smuggling, the United States government has pressed congressional leaders for quick action on new legislation granting President Roosevelt power to declare enforcement zones 50 miles off the United States coast.

Informed by treasury officials $75,000,000 in revenue was being lost to a big row of two-score vessels off the Atlantic coast, house Democratic leaders announced the new anti-smuggling bill would be brought up for action Tuesday. They foresaw little opposition.

OUTSIDE 12 MILE LIMIT

"Thirty nine foreign vessels are presently known to the coast guard to be regularly engaged in the illicit-liquor traffic," Secretary Henry Morgenthau said. "Inasmuch as these vessels are hovering beyond our customs waters (12 miles, or one hour cruising time) they are not subject to seizure under existing laws and hence they carry on their smuggling operations with impunity."

Upon declaration by the president of the 50-mile zones, coastguard ships would be allowed to make seizures of these vessels unless they pulled outside that limit. The treasury said most of them are operated "under the British flag." All contact boats operating either to or from the smuggler ships also may be seizezd and, under direction of the secretary of the treasury, destroyed.

Canada 'Plays Ball' With U.S.

OTTAWA, June 10—Canada was "playing ball" with the United States in the matter of liquor exports and practically no Canadian liquor was being smuggled into that country, it was claimed in official circles here last night. A Washington despatch said great quantities of liquor was being smuggled from a rum row off the Atlantic coast. Congressional leaders were being urged to press for legislation which would give the president power to declare customs enforcement zones extending 50 miles off the United States coast.

The Canadian and U. S. goverments have been co-operating in the matter of the movement of Canadian liquor across the line, officials said.

ARROWS OPPOSE NORTH EDMONTON

Arrow Busses and North Edmonton nines will come to grips in this evening's encounter of the Edmonton Junior Baseball league at Boyle Street, commencing at 6:30.

A victory for the Busmen will send them into a three way deadlock for first place in the league standings and they will be plugging hard to chalk up the winning verdict.

North Edmonton, defeated in both of their first two starts are confident that they will take their rivals tonight and should put up quite a struggle.

Buchanan Rovers Win Soccer Game By Margin of 4-2

Buchanan Rovers scored a Bantom league soccer victory over Alberta Avenue by a margin of 4-2 at Spruce Avenue school grounds Saturday.

It was the seventh straight win for the Rovers.

Peter Gregorasschuik got one for the Rovers and then Dave McAra made it 3-1 for the Buchanan eleven on a penalty shot before Alberta Avenue tallied their second goal. Gregorasschuik counted again before the finish to wind up the scoring.

Faith In Union Declares Church

TORONTO, June 10.—On the eve of its 10th Anniversary the United Church of Canada issued last night a declaration of its faith in union and its readiness to consider further organic unions. Signed by the deputy-moderator, Dr. T. Albert Moore, on behalf of the general council, the statement reads as follows:

On this its 10th Anniversary, the United Church of Canada reaffirms before the world its faith in the ideals and principles which brought it into being. In the light of 10 years' experience it has found these ideals to be eminently practicable in their outworking, and in the quest of them its members have found an enriched and deepened fellowship, human and divine.

In a renewed conviction of the worth of inclusive Christian fellowship, the United Church of Canada enters its second decade, prepared, as opportunity may offer and as God may direct, to seek with other Christian communions further development of its ideals, whether by increased co-operation, organic union, or otherwise, and so fulfill its purpose of being not merely a united, but a uniting church.

Campaign Who's-Who

By T. B. WINDROSS.

James East, alderman of the City of Edmonton and Labor candidate for election in the coming provincial contest, is the son of Ontario parents. He was born on October 7, 1871, just 63 years ago, at Bolton, Ont., and as a boy attended the Public school in his native town. Mr. East did not go to any college or university, but anyone who has heard him speak in the city council or on the public platform knows at once he is a widely-read and self-educated man.

JAMES EAST.

He was forced into industry on leaving school, at the age of 13, and from then on work and study were the order of nearly every day of his life. He worked in turn at a woollen mill, in saw-mills, and on farms. He then served his apprenticement as a blacksmith, but decided the life of a prospector offered more opportunities and adventure.

In the early 90's he worked and prospected in the Black Hills of South Dakota, and in New Mexico and Colorado. In 1893 panic closed the silver mines where he was at work, and at the age of 22, with life still ahead he decided to see the world.

The Columbia Exposition came first, then the rods to New York and then a cattle boat to England, and 65 days before the mast on a schooner to New Zealand. He worked a year in New Zealand when the Australian gold rush called for another move.

The next 12 years were spent as a prospector, miner, manager and owner. The year 1905 was spent on the Camel expedition into the interior of Australia, and in 1906 he left the Antipodes and travelled several months in Asia Minor, Egypt and Europe, returning to Canada after an absence of 13 years.

The future city alderman arrived in Edmonton in 1907, and in 1911 he was in the Yukon reporting on the Waugh claims at the junction of the Wind and Peel rivers. In 1912 he was elected to the city council for the first time.

In 1916 Mr. East enlisted in the C.E.F., making 25 round trips on the hospital ships Araguaya and Lititia. He was demobilized in the fall of 1919 and was re-elected to the city council the same year. With the exception of two years he has served continuously since then.

BISHOP VISITS FT. CHIPEWYAN

FORT CHIPEWYAN, Alta., June 10.—The Rt. Rev. Bishop Sovereign, of Athabasca made his first visit to this end of his diocese today, stopping only a few hours on his way north to the farthest point of his charge, Fort Norman. He will stay off on his return late in July.

Dr. Amyot, newly appointed Indian agent to the Greater Slave Agency, was also a passenger north, accompanied by Mr. Reid of Morley, Alta., Indian Agency. Dr. Amyot's headquarters will be at Resolution.

With the opening of navigation the rush to Beaverlodge gold field is at full speed by airplane, canoe, gas boat, barge and steamer. Men, women and supplies of all sorts are on the move today. Beaverlodge is a good-sized town of tents, and by rate of movement it will be a city before summer passes. Government officials Davis and Patterson are on their way to make arrangements for proper supervision of this newly acquired community. Two surveyors, McLennan and Martin, flew in with Archie McMullen on Saturday to survey the Murmac group.

Chipewyan received a shock on Thursday when it heard of the resignation of John James Loutit from the Hudson's Bay Company and his accountant, Mr. Scott. Mr. Loutit has served the Hudson's Bay Company for 26 years and was a very popular trader in this fort. Laco Hunt, former accountant here, is in charge at the present.

Meet Normandie With 104 - Foot French Plane

PARIS, June 10.—France will send a giant new trans-Atlantic air liner 104 feet long, called the world's largest sea plane, out to meet the Normandie at sea Wednesday.

The meeting in the ocean of the largest liner afloat and the huge flying boat is to symbolize France's hopes of ocean and air transport supremacy. The Normandie is returning from New York on her maiden voyage.

Shock Of Siren Fatal To Horse

WELLAND, Ont., June 10.—Fainting goats in Florida have nothing on Andrew Daradich's horse—the only trouble is Daradich's horse didn't "recover" afterwards.

Daradich was driving down the Welland-Port Colborne canal highway. A boat moved along even with the horse and rig. Its siren sounded a sharp, piercing warning.

But it was dead.

Lawn Bowling

The C.N.R. Lawn Bowling Club are a little late in getting underway, owing to the backward condition of the green. However, during the past week it has made good headway and at a large and enthusiastic meeting of members, held recently in the club house, it was decided to open the green for play Wednesday, June 12. The following will constitute the rinks for the coming season: G. Campbell, B. Stokes, J. Wicks, J. McIndoo; L. Price, C. Miller, H. Atkey, J. Hunt; R. Davis, C. Abbott, R. A. Lamb, J. Burton; A. Finnegan, C. Somers, H. Woods, R. Hall; W. Rigby, G. Hamilton, W. Lynch, J. McNeill; G. Hollands, J. B. Clayton, R. Ashcroft, A. Shanks; T. Parks, A. E. Libun, M. Baader, J. Tatham; J. Tydesley, A. E. Esten, W. E. Philpot, J. Weskoff. Rovers: Ed. Wayne, W. O. Jackson, J. Cooper, W. Cullen.

Wednesday, June 19—City Inter-Club: C.N.R. vs. Garneau. A. Finnegan and R. Davis away; W. Rigby and L. Price, home.

MARCHERS ARE OFFERED $200 TO STAY AWAY

CALGARY, June 10.—British Columbia's relief marchers Sunday were offered another source of financing their "on-to-Ottawa" march. The city of Medicine Hat, Alta., offered them $200 to stay away from there.

Despite the offer a spokesman said a stop would be called at Medicine Hat. "We want to publicize ourselves," he said.

MRS. ROOSEVELT PRESIDES AT MONTREAL MEET

MONTREAL, June 10—"The government of the United States has a philosophy that it should govern for the people and we intend to act upon it," Harry L. Hopkins, head of the Federal Emergency Relief administration, Washington, told the American Welfare association at its concluding banquet here Saturday night. He was introduced by Mrs. Franklin F. Roosevelt, wife of the President of the United States, who drove here from Washington to take the chair.

"When people talk about recovery, I wish they would qualify the word and tell us what kind of recovery they mean," Mrs. Roosevelt said. "We want recovery in the United States but not the kind of recovery that we had when we had prosperity there," she added, referring to misery which she said existed then.

Hon. C. H. Cahan, secretary of state for Canada, brought greetings to the association from the Dominion of Canada. He said of Mrs. Roosevelt, "She is as well-known and esteemed in Canada as in her own country." He was instructed by the Governor - General -in-Council and "especially the Prime Minister" to bring her greetings and "to ask her to convey similar greetings to her husband."

CABINET AT MEMORIAL TO BYNG OF VIMY

Brig. Gen. Ross Delivers Oration at Ottawa Service

OTTAWA, June 10.—The leaders of the old Canadian corps pass away, but the traditions of the army remain—and the survivors carry on, said Brig. General Alex. Ross C.M.G., D.S.O., Dominion president of the Canadian Legion, delivering the oration at the Memorial service held here Sunday in memory of the late Viscount Byng of Vimy.

"With us only a little mroe than a year, relinquishing his command nearly 18 years ago, it is a significant fact that the Canadian soldier has not forgotten him. And today," said General Ross, "you will hear of gatherings such as this all over Canada—in great cathedrals and in little country school houses, where these old men of his gather to honor his memory. To them he was no shadowy being in high command, but a comrade. Surely no finer tribute could ever be accorded to any man."

BENNETT ATTENDS

The service was attended by the Prime Minister and several members of the cabinet. Among them were Rt. Hon. Sir George Perley, Hon. Grote Stirling, minister of national defence and Hon. R. J. Manion, minister of railways. Rt. Hon. Sir Robert Borden, Canada's war-time prime minister, Rt. Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King and other parliamentarians were in attendance. Present also were representatives of the Governor General, the diplomatic corps, foreign consulates, high ranking officers of the army, navy and air force, and a great body of the general public, chiefly ex-service men.

SIMPLE CEREMONY

Simplicity was the keynote of the service, confined as it was to well known hymns, the reading of the scripture lesson, the sounding of the "Last Post" and a lament, by the pipers of the Cameron Highlanders of Ottawa. The music was furnished by the band of the Governor General's Footguards.

Calgary M. P. Dashes To Ottawa Ahead of "Trek"

CALGARY, June 10.—Dr. George D. Stanley, member of Parliament for East Calgary, was en route to Ottawa today seeking federal government action in the situation created by the "On-to-Ottawa" march of the relief camp strikers.

He is understood to have conferred with civic and relief authorities before leaving for the east.

California Oil Magnate Dies

FREDERICKSBURG, Va., June 10—Oscar Sutro, 61, native of Victoria, B. C., who was vice-president and counsel of the Standard Oil Company of California, died unexpectedly in his hotel room Sunday of heart trouble.

Sutro, who came here from Washington, registered at the hotel about two p.m., and complained of feeling ill. A physician was called but Sutro died 15 minutes later.

Sutro was the son of Emil and Adelaide Sutro. They brought him to the United States in 1865.

Surviving are his widow, two daughters and one son.

Name Street For Mme. Marie Curie

NEW YORK, June 10.—Exterior street, on New York's upper east side, became Marie Curie avenue, Sunday, the 37th anniversary of the co-discovery of radium by the late Mme. Curie. Several hospitals are on the avenue.

CONTRACT BRIDGE

WRITTEN FOR THE BULLETIN

By E. V. SHEPARD

FORCEFUL EVIDENCE

A player who has been taught that two and a half tricks are needed to open the auction also should be taught that two quick tricks are ample to make an opening bid with a good two-suiter. There are many exceptions to general rules. Note what happened on the following deal, which gave South two biddable five-card suits.

♠ K J 8 5 4

Bidding went: South, pass, when he should have bid 1-spade, which his partner would have carried to 6-spades, over any jump and succeeding calls of opponents: West, 4-hearts, frightening off both North and South from any overcall.

West scored 100 for honors and went down only a single trick undoubled, thereby scoring 50 points, which was a dreadful loss to North and South.

Note what an opening bid of 1-spade might have accomplished. Suppose West jumps into 4-hearts. North may jump to 5-spades and South to 6-spades. Or North may make the more efficient overcall of 4-hearts, with 5-hearts, saying thereby: "Partner, I have unusual support for your spades, no losing hearts and a very powerful hand, probably worth at least a small slam." Knowing how weak his own hand is, South should show his second suit, by bidding 6-diamonds. Were that a bid of 6-clubs, North would be justified in bidding 7-spades, but the 6-diamonds will cause North to close bidding with 6-spades.

While it will make no difference in results what the opening lead is, we will suppose it to be the K of hearts, which dummy will ruff. The ace and K of spades will pick up all opposing trumps. The K and ace of clubs will take the next two tricks. South will ruff a third round of clubs. Dummy will be put in with a trump. The 7 of clubs will be ruffed, leaving two long clubs in dummy. The ninth trick will be won with dummy's ace of diamonds, and two club tricks will give the declarer two diamond discards. The twelfth trick, will be taken with the last trump. Opponents will win the thirteenth trick with the K of diamonds.
